ARE HUNTING FOR A MOSES

Who Will Lead the Party Out of the Political Wilderness.

Republican National Delegates at War With Themselves.

They Are Prodigal Sons, in Every Sense of the Word,

And Are Feeding on the Husks of Discontent.

Governor McKinley Looming Up as a Compromise.

Bitter Factional Strife Engendered and Peacemakers Keep the Fighting Statesmen from Pounding Each Other's Noses.

Minneapolis, June 8.—The second day of the national republican convention brings with it increased excitement and interest in the outcome. Long before the many doors leading into the exposition building had been opened they were beseiged by a large crowd, one and all anxious to witness the proceedings of the day from the arrival of the first delegate to the adjournment of what gave promise of being an exciting session.

The delegates also were unusually early in putting in an appearance, and many long conferences and interchanges of opinion could be observed from the galleries in progress on the floor.

While the convention was assembling the band rendered a medley of patriotic airs. The entrance of the leading delegates was the signal for a repetition of the scenes of yesterday, hearty applause greeting those whose names are household words among the republicans of the country.

SWITCHING TO M'KINLEY.

Evidently the Blaine Boom is in Need of Repairs.

Minneapolis, June 8.—(Special)—The Blaine movement fell heavy Tuesday afternoon, if indeed, there was anything to fall.

Before the morning session the boomers were claiming everything with confidence and evidently had many Harrison men discouraged and demoralized.

But the machinery of office holding was back of Mr. Harrison to rally the force and the response to the danger signal was so prompt and so effective that distinguished Civil Service Reformer Geo. Wm. Curtis, would have groaned in disgust if he could have beheld the running of the well greased machine.

Before the morning session closed the Blaine plume began to trail and it was bedraggled in mud this morning.

The opposition has been anything to defeat Harrison from the start with Tom Platt, Mat Quay and the other fellows who are leading the crusade, it is doubtful if they expected more than to make make a show with Blaine, and it is now apparent that they were more surprised and disappointed than were Harrison's managers, when he resigned last Saturday.

That act compelled them to make him the candidate in earnest against Harrison, and prevented the combinations they were confident could be made.

The Blaine people were very tired last night and long before midnight they were openly talking McKinley.

The cry still is "anything to beat Harrison," and they have sized the circumstance of Gox. McKinley being the permanent chairman of the convention to rally around Napoleon, as the man who can stampede the convention away from the president.

The governor is not insensible to the earnest desire of many delegates in both factions to nominate him, but as he was itensely loyal to John Sherman in 1888, so is he true to Benjamin Harrison now, and will do whatever he can to prevent the overthrow of his favorite.

Still McKinley is not insensible of his friends and he is in close touch with all the leaders and every movement is communicated to his personal headquarters.

The McKinley boom has assumed more than complimentary proportions.

It has an entity that is quite promising.

Gov. Brackett, of Massachusetts, announced last night that four votes in his delegation would probably be cast for McKinley on the first ballot as a feeler.

The situation last night was all against Blaine, except in the neighborhood of the brass bands and drum majors, and the Harrison followers were boldly confident that they would be able to beat down one boom after another as fast as they appeared in the convention.

The unexpected development of the remarkable Harrison strength in the New York delegation had much to do with shifting the scenes and giving credability to the claim of the president's friends.

The office holder is a dandy when he is given lots of rope and rich pasture.

He is in clover in Minneapolis and confidently expects to see his title clear to four more years of salary under Benjamin, all of which expectation will not materialize if the democrats make a wise selection in Chicago.

Flanagan, of Texas, is on the ground, asking the rest what they are here for, and blamed if they know, and they frankly tell him so. Perhaps they will know better and more Thursday night.

PLAYING A FINE HAND.

The Committee on Credentials Master of the Situation.

Minneapolis, June 8.—There are many people who believe that the committee on credentials may be the controlling factor in determining the nominee, and the proceedings of that committee are being watched with absorbing interest. In this convention there are somewhat more than the usual number of contested delegations, and all of these contests have been referred to the committee on credentials. It is stated that the anti-Harrison element predominates in this commitee, and it is a current rumor that it may be deemed advisable by the controlling faction to postpone any report on the numerous contests until it is ascertained just how prominent a part the favored delegates may be able to play on the convention.

In the Louisiana delegation the contest involves 12 out of the 16 delegates; in Alabama 14 delegates are involved out of a total of 22. In the states of Mississippi and Texas there are also contests, in the former 6 delegates being involved, and in the latter nearly the entire delegation. The political significance of the Texas contest, however, will hardly have any special bearing on the result, as the decision not to recognize the white man's republican party eliminates them from consideration in this connection. In Maryland there are two delegates involved, in Kentucky two and in South Carolina the whole state delegation of 18. In Georgia two delegates are at issue, and in Utah the Blaine delegates will be seated. In the grand total, therefore, the contests involve about 60 delegates, and it will be seen that in a close contest between the two candidates, it would be entirely in the power of this committee, if its report was adopted, to exert a controlling influence on the contest. Both sides are watching the committee very closely, and it is likely that considerable time will be consumed in its deliberations.

The Michigan delegates have again had a long session over the prospects of Gov. Alger. The chairman of the delegation reports that it is now estimated that Alger will have 57 votes, and it has been decided to adhere to him while there are prospects of advancing his candidacy. The second choice of almost all the members of the delegation is Gov. McKinley.

TOLD IN THE BULLETINS.

Chunks of News Gathered from the Wires in Haste.

Minneapolis, June 8.—One of the Ohio delegates says that if Harrison is not nominated on the first ballot they will go solid to McKinley.

11:34—The delegates from all sections are in turn heading for the Ohio delegation to satisfy themselves in regard to the report that it will go for McKinley in certain contingencies. Considerable suppressed excitement is apparent.

11:35—Prominent Blaine men deny the statement that they will resist progress until the committee on credentials reports.

11:40—Chairman Payne, of the Wisconsin committee, gives the following as an accurate poll which was made last night in a certain interest which he will not name: Harrison, 438; Blaine 420; Alger 42.

11:41—Conference of Ohio and Pennsylvania delegates is going on in the aisle. The arrival of Mahone, Ingall and Fassett aroused applause. The galleries and spectators' seats are better filled than yesterday. The crowd is animated, spirited and full of interest.

11:42—George W Childs led a band of ladies up the center aisle as the band was playing "Forever an dforever. The newspaper correspondents gave Mr. Childs a round of applause.

11:45—A great body of delegates was on their feet discussing the situation with much energy. Mahone has just been asked to go to Ohio delegation and has complied.

11:45 a. m.—Committee on credentials has not yet passed on a single contested delegation. The chairman of the committee on platform says he will not report until late to-night.

11:46—Mahone leaves Ohioans and proceeds to New York.

11:47—The scene on the floor is nearly as animated as that immediately preceding the taking of a ballot.

1148—The convention is called to order.

11:49—Frost, of Massachusetts, says his delegation has agreed to go solidly to McKinley or Reed if the first ballot does not nominate.

11:55—Judge Conner, a delegate from Iowa, says that while great pressure is being brought upon that delegation by the Blaine element, it is being deluged with telegrams form farmers all over the state to stand by Harrison.

12 m.—When the name of McKinley was reported for permanent chairman it was received with long applause, delegates waving their hats, handkerchiefs, etc., for twenty seconds.

Gov. McKinley was escorted to the chair by Messrs. Fessenden, Spooner, and Mahone, amidst great enthusiasm.

12:04—The applause for McKinley broke out afresh and three rousing cheers were given for him, accompanied by cries of "He's all right."

Gov. McKinley returned his thanks for the reception.

12:06—Chairman Fassett introduces McKinley and the band enthusiastically broke out with Boom-Ta-Ra.

12:20—At the conclusion of McKinley's speech there were loud cries for Fred Douglas. He was presented and gracefully retired.

12:21—The rules of the last convention were adopted as those of he convention amid applause.

The report provides htat credentials and platform committees must report before the convention proceeds ot ballot.

They cannot report to-day.

12:59—Adjourned till to-morrow.

FILLEY BECOMES EXCITED.

He Don't Want to be Knocked Out in His Own State.

Minneapolis, June 8.—An executive session of the Missouri delegation was held in their parlor at the Nicolet house, the proceedings of which became public even more rapidly than did the action of the United States senate behind closed doors.

The delegation met to select a representative on the national committee. Messrs. Chauncey I. Filley and R. C. Kerens, both of St. Louis, the former representing the anti-administration wing of the party and the latter the administration wing, were placed in nomination. Mr. Filley addressed the delegation in terms of great earnestness recounting the services he had rendered the party as a reason why his place on the committee should not be filled by another.

It was his due, he claimed, when he asked for re-election that he might further serve the party, that it should be accorded him.

The opposition to Mr. Filley manifested itself by several speeches, and the temperature became so warm that it was deemed best to postpone final action in the matter.

After the meeting adjourned and the room was thrown open to the public Mr. Filley evidently still smarting under some of the criticisms that had been made upon his action, engaged in an excited colloquy with Mr. Henry Lamm, of Sedalia, whom he seemed to hold responsible for much of what had been said.

"I am not a disorganizer," said Mr. Filley, "I have humiliated myself for the party time and time again and I will not do it again. I am tired of hearing myself called a disorganizer," and raising his voice to a pitch that could be heard all over the room said:

"I give notice that it must be stopped. I will not have it from you nor any one else, now or hereafter."

Mr. Lamm disclaimed having called Mr. Filley a disorganizer but Mr. Filley, with considerable vehemence, repeated that he had so designated him. "There are no factions in St. Louis," continued Mr. Filley, "those who support me represent 95 per cent. of the republicans in that city. The fellows who think they make the opposition don't control 5 per cent. of the votes, and never did."

"I merely wanted to give you a rest," said Mr. Lamm, "and the indications are that you will have a good long rest."

"Well, I do want a rest," said Mr. Filley, "from that kind of talk, and if you put me to rest, as you say, you will put 50,000 republicans of Missouri to rest with me."

"You are not satisfied," said Mr. Lamm, "unless you are on top."

"I have been on the bottom," retorted Mr. Filley, "and have climbed up to the top."

"Oh, well, if loud talking is what you mean by being on top, I suppose you are there."

"I am talking loud and I will continue to talk loud until I satisfy my friends and enemies that I am on top."

With this the men separated and the incident ended. Of course it was a subject of very considerable comment among the delegates and others who were in the room. Some of the delegates deplored the publicity of the affair, but felicitated themselves that if dirty linen was to be washed in public it would better be done now than later in the campaign.

DON'T LIKE COGGSWELL.

His Selection Not Pleasing to the Blaine Men.

Minneapolis, June 8.—Much anxiety was felt this morning before the committee on credentials met as to the probable action of that body. Would the majority again order a postponement and contribute to further delay of the nomination?

Nobody seemed to know and nobody was able to say whether or not the national committee subcommittee in charge of the papers of the contested delegations had got them in shape for the consideration of the committee on credentials.

No one seems to know either how the committee stands between the two candidates and the partisans of neither side are inclined to make any emphatic claim of control.

"The Blaine men are not pleased with the selection of Gen. Coggswell as chairman of the committee," said a national committeeman, a member of the subcommittee on the general contested cases. "Coggswell bulldozed himself on the committee as chairman.

"As soon as the members assembled some one proposed Coggswell for chairman, indorsing him as a member of congress, a man of experience in these affairs, and a man of ability and impartal. He said to me and half a dozen others that as soon as he got a chance he would rip up the back the work of the subcommittee. A fine sample of impartiality and fairness he is."

A bystander suggested that Gen. Coggswell must think he was a subcommittee all by himself.

Chairman Coggswell said after breakfast this morning that the committee on credentials would first take up the contest from Alabama. This would certainly occupy it until the dinner hour and probably much later in the day.

ON THE SKIRMISH LINE.

The Opening of the Day at Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, June 8.—The second day of the convention opened quite as gloomy as the first. The heavy rain which fell almost all night left the streets sloppy and unpleasant.

The sky above the city is a gloomy gray this morning. The weather is having an effect on the visitors, if not on the delegates, and there is unusual quiet.

At 9 o'clock not a shout had been heard in the hotel corridor and not a band had paraded the streets. Over the desk of the West hotel yesterday morning was a colossal portrait of Benjamin Harrison.

A twin picture of James G. Blaine hangs beside it this morning.

The followers of the Maine man are not to be outdone in any particular by the Harrison boomers.

The fraternal association of the two portraits, however, does not represent the feeling between the two factions.

A great deal of tatterness has been created in the last two days.

It was a matter of remark that the friends of the two candidates showed unpleasant rivalry in their efforts to control the convention. The leaders of both sides used every effort to prevent ill-feeling without avail.

Almost the first question which Gov. McKinley asked of a reporter of the United Press, who interviewed him on his arrival in Minneapolis, was: "Is there any bad blood?"

At first there was an earnest rivalry, but even where delegations were divided, except where they were divided on the line of the old established local factions, there was little or no ill feeling.

But all of this has changed. The charges made against each other by the representatives of the two candidates and the struggle to control the doubtful vote has made much trouble, and to-day the republican party at Minneapolis is split wide open.

Some of the cooler men, high in party councils, say there is only one way to heal the breach—by the selection of a compromise candidate.

This feeling is what has given strength to the McKinley boom in the last two days and has started several other side movements.

Mr. McKinley has shown his sincerity in the support of Gen. Harrison in the most emphatic way. He has been outspoken for him on all occasions and has refused to countenance for a moment the discussion of his own nomination.

He became very angry yesterday when some one in his presence spoke of him as a possible candidate.

Shaking his finger emphatically in the man's face, Maj. McKinley said: "Any man who mentions my name in connection with the nomination while Gen. Harrison is in the race is no friend of mine."

But it is not as an opponent of Gen. Harrison that Mr. McKinley is discussed. His name is mentioned at the head of the list of compromises possible if Gen. Harrison's friends decide at any time to withdraw his name in favor of any one else.

There is no doubt, however, that a number of votes will be cast for Major McKinley on the first ballot, in spite of his protest.

The weakest of the booms is that of Alger.

The Michigan men are having the greatest difficulty holding the delegation together. They realize that the compliment intended for him will fall flat if the solid Michigan delegation does not vote for him on the first ballot.

This the Harrison men are trying to prevent, believing their hope lies in a straight vote between the chief candidates taken as early as possible.

They have been working with the Michigan men and this morning there is some discussion of the possibility that some of them will vote for Harrison on the first ballot, and that Alger's name will not be presented.

The other booms—the Allison, Lincoln and Rusk movements—have weakened again this morning.

SECOND DAY'S WORK.

The Convention at Last Gets Down to Business.

Minneapolis, June 8.—Cloudy skies, with only ocasional sun bursts, marked the opening of the second day's proceedings. It was genuine "Harrison weather," as his friends remarked. Among the distinguished guests at the convention were George W. Childs and party, just returned from the Rocky Mountain trip. California's banner of yesterday was supplemented by a handsome blue standard borne by the Illinois delegation and planted in the main aisle bearing the inscription: "Illinois, Lincoln, Grant, Logan."

Eloquently suggestive that if the convention chose to add a fourth name to that illustrious trio "Barkis is willin'."

Three minutes before the hour of opening of the proceedings, Gov. McKinley, the chairman-elect, walked down the main aisle to an accompaniment of cheers. He bore no roll of manuscript, and it was evident that he had prepared no set speech.

The snow-white, but still abundant locks, of the venerable Fred Douglas caught the eye of the galleries soon afterwards and the great colored orator and pioneer of emancipation was warmly greeted.

Mr. Ingalls received another mark of recognition as he entered. It is evident the galleries mean sooner or later to get a speech of the brilliant and caustic Kansan.

The band struck up "The Star-Spangled Banner," followed by a selection from "William Tell" and then the trombone showed off the acoustic properties of the hall to fine effect by wrestling with the sonorous tones of "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep."

Gov. McKinley had seated himself in the gallery behind the chair in close company with Gov. Gorham, Senator Casey and other friends of the administration.

Temporary Chairman Fassett was late in putting in an appearance and so were many of the delegates who had been engaged in committee work a good part of the night. But the band kept things lively.

Ex-Speaker Reed's familiar form was looked for and found in the same place as yesterday. Fred Douglas was invited to a seat on the platform.

It was 11:43 when Chairman Fassett rapped the convention to order.

The Rt. Rev. H. E. Whipple, Episcopal bishop of Minnesota, who had been sitting to the left of the chair with his head protected by a little purple skull cap, removed that covering and opened the proceedings with prayer, the delegates and most of the audience standing the whole.

He said:

"Almighty God, who hath promised to give wisdom to all who reverently seek thee, who alone pourest into the hearts of men that most excellent gift of charity, we ask Thy blessing upon this convention.

"Help them to realize that government is a sacred trust from God, who alone has the right to govern and that His love has given to every nation the right to say in what form that trust shall be clothed.

"Grant, Heavenly Father, that the one whom we may choose shall be a man after Thine own heart, a lover of righteousness, the defender of the poor, and the needy and the guardian of the nation's honor.

"Give to this people an understanding heart to obey Thee, so that truth and justice, religion and piety, peace and happiness may be established among us for all generations.

"Grant this for the sake of Thy son, Jesus Christ, in whose words we sum up our petitions.

"Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed be Thy name, Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as in heaven.

"Give us this day aur daily bread, and power and the glory forever and forever, those who trespass against us, lead us not into temptation and deliver us from evil, for Thine is the kingdom and the power and the glory forever aur forever. Amen."

Senator Platt's absence from his seat at the opening of the proceedings was noted and there was some speculation whether this indicated that some new surprise was being prepared for the convention.

Mr. Depew was also absent, but Mr. Miller and Senator Hiscock were in their places.

Mr. Webster, of Nebraska, asked permission for Mr. Walker, of Nebraska, being on the floor, to present a gavel to the convention. The chairman announced that Mr. Walker would have the floor for that purpose.

Mr. Fassett explained Mr. Walker then took the platform and made a little speech in so low a tone that there were cries of "louder" from all parts of the hall. The gavel was presented in the name of the young republicans of Nebraska, inn emory of the homestead act. Mr. Walker described the wood of which the gavel was made and said there were two silver coins in the end of it.

Mr. Fassett, as temporary chairman, returned the thanks of the convention to the state of "Nevada." This slip of the tongue caused laughter which, as Mr. Fassett adroitly termed it, saying there was so much silver about the gavel that the mistake was excusable.

The temporary chairman announced the order of business to be the presentation of the credentials committee report.

Mr. Coggswell took the floor and said that the committee was not ready to report. He asked permission for the committee to sit continuously until it had completed its labors and said that if the committee is attended by reasonable success it cannot report before to-morrow.

Leave to sit continuously was granted.

Mr. Coggswell and Mr. Spooner having taken their seats the chairman announced that the report of the committee on permanent organization was next in order.

D. C. Lockwood, of Utah, chairman of he committee, was recognized and took the platform. He presented the name of Hon. Wm. McKinley, of Ohio, for permanent chairman. It was received with tumultuous applause.

Charles W. Johnson was named for secretary and the assistant secretaries of the temporary organization were recommended continued. The committee also recommends that each delegation appoint an honorary vice president and secretary.

Mr. Lockwood moved the adoption of the report and it was adopted and the chairman appointed Samuel Fessenden, of Connecticut; ex-Senator Spooner, of Wisconsin, and Gen. Mahone a committee to escort Maj. McKinley to the chair.

They came up from the body of the hall and went up the narrow isle beside the chairman's platform to the place where Gov. McKinley was seated.

Then Mr. Spooner preceded and Gen. Mahone followed him down the aisle to the platform. He shook hand with Mr. Fassett, while the convention rose and cheered.

Mr. Fassett, turning from him, thanked the convention for its consideration and kindness to him.

Then he introduced the permanent chairman. There was another tumult of applause and an Ohio delegate sprang to his feet and proposed three cheers. They were given with a will.

When the noise had ceased, Gov. McKinley, speaking with that clear enunciation for which he is noted, began as follows:

McKinley's Speech.

"Gentlemen of the convention: I thank you for the honor of presiding over the ninth convention of the republican party. A republican convention means something. They have always meant something. Republican conventions say what they mean and mean what they say. They declare principles and policies and purposes and when entrusted with power they execute and enforce them. (Cheers.)

"The first national convention of the republican party 36 years ago met in the city of Philadelphia. The platform of that convention reads to-day more like an inspiration than the affirmation of a political party.

"Every provision of that great instrument made by the fathers of our party is on the statutes of our country to-day. (Cheers).

"Every one of them has been embodied into public law and that cannot be said of the platform of any political organization in this country or any country in the world.

"Whenever there is anything to be done in this country and by this country, and for this country, the republican party is called upon to do it. (Applause.)

"There is one thing that can be said of our organization, which cannot be said of any other. It can look backward without shame or humiliation, and it can look forward with cheer and exultation. That cannot be said of any other political organization in the United States.

Gentlemen of the convention, we are here to-day to make a platform and a ticket that will commend themselves to the conscience and intelligence and judgment of the people, and we will do it. (Loud cheers).

"Whatever is done by this convention will meet the approval of the American people in November (cheers).

"We have already heard some of the notes of victory, for this is a republican year.

"Rhode Island has spoken. (Applause.) Only yesterday Oregon spoke, electing three republican representatives to the congress of the United States. (Cheers.)

"When we get through with this convention its conclusions will be the law of republican action, as they will be the assurance of republican victory. We are for a protective tariff and for reciprocity. (Great applause.)

"We propose to take no backward step upon either one of those great republican principles. (Applause.)

"We stand for a protective tariff because it represents the American home, the American fireside, the American girl and the American boy, and the highest possibilities of American citizenship.

"We propose to raise our money to pay public expenses by taxing the products of other nations, rather than by taxing the products of our own. (Applause.)

"The democratic party believes in direct taxation; that is, in taxing ourselves. We don't believe in that principle so long as we can find anybody else to tax. (Laughter and applause.)

"The protective tariff not only does everything which a revenue tariff can do in raising all needed revenues, but a protective tariff does more than that.

"A protective tariff encourages and stimulates American industries and gives the widest possibilities to American genius and American effort. (Applause.)

"Does anybody know what tariff reform means? (Cries of No. no.) And yet that is the platform of our opponents this year.

"What does it mean? You can study President Cleveland's utterances, from the first one he made in New York, when he said he did nor know anything about the tariff, until his last one in Rhode Island, and you go away ignorant and uninformed as to what tariff reform means.

"Since the war there have been three great tariff reform bills proposed by the democratic leaders and none of them alike; no two of them with the same free list; no two of them with the same tariff list; no two of them with the same rates of duty; but all made by the democratic party, upon the same principle—to symbolize tariff reform. You may go to Mr. Mills, to Springer and will find that they differ totally.

"But you may go to the house of representatives at Washington, which was elected distinctively upon what they call a tariff reform issue, with a two-thirds majority, and what do you find? That they have passed three bills. Let me name them.

"First, free tin and steel, or iron plates, on which tin is coated—taxed, the finished product free and the raw material bearing a duty.

"Second, free wool to the manufacturer and tariff cloth to the consumer.

"Third, free cotton ties to the cotton states, and tariff hoop iron to all the other states That is their symbol of tariff reform.

"Gentlemen of the convention, how do you like it?

"This contest that you enter upon is for the maintenance of protection and reciprocity. But I want to say here that there is not a line of the tariff bill that is not American; there is not a paragraph that is not patriotic. There is not a page that does not represent Americanism and the highest possibilities of American citizenship (applause).

"We are to declare ourselves upon other questions here to-day. We are to declare ourselves upon the question of a free ballot and a fair count (applause).

"No platform should have been made by a republican convention which did not reiterate that great constitutional guaranty.

"No republican speech should ever be made that did not insist—firmly and resolutely insist—that that great constitutional guaranty shall be a living birthright, not the cold formality of constitutional enactment, but a living thing, which the poorest and humblest may confidently enjoy and which the richest and most powerful dare not deny (great applause).

"Well can well leave to the committee on resolutions the duty of making a platform that shall represent the best thoughts and the best ideas and the best wisdom of the republican party. (Applause).

"When we go out of this convention, upon a true republican platmorm, we go out marching to victory, no matter what name we may carry on our banner. (Applause).

ROUTINE WORK.

The speech was greeted with prolonged cheering. At its close there were repeated cries of "Douglas," and the venerable ex-slave had to come forwrad and bow his thanks.

When order was restored the chairman recognized Chairman Bingham, of the committee on rules and order of business, who took the platform and read that committee's report.

The paragraph, "adopted the rules of the Fifty-first congress" was emphsized by Mr. Bingham in reading, and the convention applauded.

Mr. Bingham explained, that with two exceptions, these were the rules of the last national convention.

One of these exceptions was the insertion of a rule providing that a motion to table an amendment shall not prejudice the pending question.

This was arule of the United States senate.

The other was the recognition of the rules of the house of representatives in the Fifty-first congress, instead of the rules of the present house, which permit indefinite filibustering and obstruction and non-action except when reported by the committee on rules.

Mr. Cullom asked if the printed copy of the rules distributed through the hall was correct. He was assured that with one single error, they were.

The report was agreed to without division.

The chairman then announced that the next order of business was the report of the committee on resolutions.

Chairman Foraker took the floor to ask further time. He could not be heard by the convention for the applause. The chairman heard him, however, and said that if there was no objection further time would be granted.

The roll was then called for the names of members of the national committee. They are announced as follows:

Alabama, passed; Arizona, Wm. Griffith; Arkansas, Powell Clayton; California, M. H. De Young; Colorado, J. F. Sanders; Connecticut, Samuel Fessenden; Delaware, asks further time; District of Columbia, Perry H. Carson; Florida, John G. Long; Georgia, W. W. Brown; Idaho, George L. Shoup; Illinois, W. J. Campbell; Indiana, asks additional time; Iowa, J. S. Clarkson; Kansas, Cris Leland, jr.; Kentucky, W. O. Bradley; Louisiana, asks further time; Maine, J. H. Manley; Maryland, J. A. Carey; Massachusetts, W. Murray Crane; Michigan, George L. Maltz; Minnesota, asks further time; Mississippi, asks further time; Missouri, Richard Kerens.

Montana, A. C. Bodkin; Nebraska, asks further time; Nevada, asks further time; New Hampshire, P. E. Cheney; New Jersey, Garrett A. Hobart; New York, Frank S. Wetherbee; North Carolina, asks further time; North Dakota, H. C. Hansbrough; Ohio, W. M. Hahn; Oregon, Joseph Simon; Pennsylvania, not yet selected; Rhode Island, Isaac M. Potter; South Carolina, Ellery M. Brayton; South Dakota, A. R. Kittredge; Tennessee, George W. Hill; Texas, M. Wright Cuney; Virginia, Wm. Mahone; Vermont, M. B. Hoban; Washington, Nelson Bennett; West Virginia, N. B. Scott; Wisconsin, H. C. Payne; Wyoming, J. M. Carey; New Mexico, Thomas B. Catron; Oklahoma, further time; Utah, ill further time.

Mr. Clarkson's name was greeted with prolonged applause. M. Manley's name was applauded and when it was learned, through the announcement of the name of R. C. Kerens, from Missouri, that the fight in that delegation had been settled against the old committeeman, Chauncey I. Filley, there was also applause. Mahone's name and several others were applauded. Perry Carson's nam was received with laughter. The chairman requested that the missing names be sent to the clerk during the day.

Several woman suffrage memorials, a memorial from the honest money league, were presented and referred.

The chairman then announced that the next business was the naming of candidates for the presidential nomination. There was an excited buzz and Speaker Cullom jumped to his feet and asked that the list of states be read to name honorary vice presidents.

Mr. Ingalls got up and asked that rule three be read. Clerk Johnson read this rule, which provided that the reports of the committees on credentials and resolutions must be acted upon before any nominations were made for president and vice president.

Chairman McKinley gracefully accepted the correction and withdrew the announcement.

Adjourned to To-Morrow.

On motion of Mr. De Young the convention, at 12:50, adjourned until to-morrow, at 11 o'clock.

There were cries of "no" as the motion was made and the vote in its favor was small, but the chairman put it quickly, and quickly declared it carried.

RESOLUTION COMMITTEE.

Foraker Heads It and You Look Out for Fireworks.

Minneapolis, June 8.—Ex-Gov. Foraker of Ohio was chosen chairman of the committee on resolutions, and he it is, therefore, who will have the honor to voice in the national convention the official declaration upon which the coming presidential campaign will be fought by republicans.

The first meeting of the committee began immediately following the adjournment of the convention, and before the slower members had realized what was going on Gov. Foraker was at the helm.

Delegate Oliver, of Pennsylvania, on entering the room, rapped immediately for order, briskly named Foraker for chairman, and getting a prompt second, put the motion, announced that it was carried, and Gov. Foraker was the man.

If there was any idea of opposition, it had no chance to develop, and the hearty "ayes" of the lively Ohioan's friends on the committee went wholly unchallenged by any hostile negatives.

When the committee had caught its breath after the lightning-like election, Gov. Gear of Iowa offered a suggestion, which was adopted after some discussion.

It was that the preparation of the platform be referred to five sub-committees of five members each. One topic was to be assigned to a sub-committee, the division to be as follows: First, tariff; second, silver; third, elections; fourth, foreign relations; fifth, miscellaneous subjects.

Gov. Foraker, after looking over the list of members when he reached his hotel, made the appointments of the subcommittees as follows:

Tariff—H. W. Oliver, Pennsylvania; J. G. Gear, Iowa; J. W. Bourne, jr., Oregon; David R. Pierce, New Hampshire; George Denny, jr., Kentucky.

Silver—Lucius Fairchild, Wisconsin; John P. Jones, Nevada; Joseph G. Cannon, Illinois; J. Q. A. Brackett, Massachusetts; Henry M. Teller, Colorado.

Elections—Newton Hacker, Tennessee; Jas. P. Platt, Connecticut; Edmund Waddill, Virginia; A. S. Fowler, Arkansas; Charles Austin, Michigan.

Foreign relations—George A. Knight, California; C. F. Libby, Maine; John A. Hutchinson, West Virginia; Edmund O'Connor, New York; W. P. Heyburn, Idaho.

Miscellaneous matters—O. E. Leonard, Kansas; James H. Wilson, Delaware; C. F. Griffin, Indiana; Frank J. Harris, Rhode Island; Edward C. Ericson, South Dakota.

Before the meeting of the committee on resolutions this morning, Chairman Foraker made some changes in the subcommittee on tariff, foreign relations and miscellaneous matter. They are now constituted as follows:

Tariff—W. H. Oliver, Pennsylvania; J. H. Gear, Iowa; W. B. Heyburn, Idaho; David R. Pierce, New Hapshire; George Denny, jr., Kentucky.

Foreign relations—Geo. A. Knight, California; C. F. Labby, Maine; John A. Hutchinson, West Virginia; Edmund O'Connor, New York; J. H. Wilson, Delaware.

Miscellaneous matters—O. E. Leonard, Kansas; S. E. Smith, South Carolina; C. F. Griffin, Indiana; Frank G. Harris, Rhode Island; Edward C. Ericson, South Dakota; N. O. Murphy, Arizona; J. H. Whitmire, New Mexico.

OFF FOR BAR HARBOR.

Mr. Blaine Goes to the Sea Shore to Kick Himself.

Washington, June 8.—Mr. Blaine left Washington at 3:15 yesterday afternoon for Boston, on the New York and Boston limited express over the Pennsylvania road. He had passed the earlier part of the day quietly at his Madison Place residence, seeing only a few of his personal friends.

He was in excellent spirits and his appearance and movements indicated that he had regained his full physical vigor.

He received from time to time copies of the dispatches and bulletins from Minneapolis, and a few private telegrams, with the contents of all of which he seemed very well pleased—and especially the news of the unanimous election of Mr. Fassett as temporary chairman, but although manifestly much interested he evinced neither excitement nor anxiety concerning the outcome of the great contest.

Shortly after the luncheon, Mr. Blaine received Assistant Secretary Adee and a number of the bureau officers of the state department who called to bid good-bye to their late chief.

About 2:30 he left the house in company with three members of his family and drove to the railroad. The party reached the Pennsylvania station about 2:50 o'clock and walked briskly through the gateway and at once entered the private car of Vice President Thompson of the Pennsylvania railroad which had been attached to the rear of the train.

The only persons who accompanied the ex-secretary to Boston were Mrs. Blaine, her cousin, Miss Dodge, "Gail Hamilton" and one or two said servants. James G. Blaine, jr., saw the party off at the station. The doors and windows of the car were open and when it became known who its occupants were, a crowd of spectators gathered behind the iron fence and watched with keen interest the movements of the distinguished party within.

Promptly at 3:15 the train moved and as it started Mr Blaine came to the rear platform, and, in recognition of the hearty salutations of the crowd, he took off his hat and bowed again and again as the train moved out of the station.

The party will go to Bar Harbor.

FASSETT MADE A HIT.

A Two Bager With Blaine on First and Harrison on Second

Minneapolis, June 8.—The committee on rules met immediately after adjournment of the convention. H. H. Bingham, of Pennsylvania, was chosen chairman and S. F. Stall of Arkansas, secretary. Henry H. Sith met with the committee, representing the national committee, and aided in the work of remodelling the rules. The rules of the last national convention were taken up, and, after some changes, adopted. The action of the national committee in allowing the claims of New Mexico to six delegates was approved.

A proposition was made in the form of a motion, that in view of the population of Utah as well as of the count of the delegatons from that territory, it be allowed four votes in the convention. This was debated at considerable length, it being maintained that such action would have a bad effect in other territories. When put to a vote only seven favored the proposition. The representation was then allow tedo stand, two for each congressional district and four at large from each of the states, six from New Mexico and two from each of the other territories and district of Columbia.

The rules of the house of representatives of the 51st congress, in so far as they applied, were adopted, and W. H. Withington, of Michigan, offered the following rule, which was adopted: "It shall be in order to lay on the table a proposed amendment to any pending measure, and such motion, if adopted, shall not carry with it the whole question or prejudice such measure."

ALMOST CAME TO BLOWS.

A Black Man Insulted for Attempting the Convention.

Minneapolis, June 8.—E. B. Goddis created quite a sensation last night before the door of the committee on credentials by telling W. S. Murrell, the colored alternate-at-large from New Jersey, that "he had bought many a nigger like him."

The quarrel originated in an attempt by Goddis, who was elected alternate-at-large for New Jersey, to take the place of Hon. John I. Blaire, whose alternate Murrell was.

Mr. Blair was unable to be at the convention, and Murrell claimed the right to take his place. This claim was disputed by Gen. Jewell and Goddis. Murrell rose in the convention and attempted to state his side of the case yesterday, but chairman Fassett ruled him out of order.

The committee on credentials decided the matter in favor of the colored delegate, which so incensed Goddis that he yelled out to him in front of the committee door: "I have bought many a nigger like you."

Murrell was on the point of striking him, but restraining himself he replied: "Thank God you have never bought me. You have not money enough."

Quite a crowd gathered around the angry disputants and many were the cries of shame directed at Goddis. The colored delegates are enraged and threaten to bring the matter up in the convention. W. M. Murrell, having been recognized by the national committee, holds the tickets and says he means to hold the seat.

THE FIGHT IS FIERCE.

Blaine and Harrison Delegates Getting Excited.

Minneapolis, June 8.—Factional troubles are breaking in many of the state delegations and there will be a great deal of ill-feeling engendered before the convention completes its work.

The Minnesota delegation is in trouble. The Harrison delegates at a meeting of the delegation yesterday charged the Blaine delegates, and particulary W. H. Eustis, with using the state headquarters o help the Blaine boom.

The matter came up in a meeting of the delegation and was disputed hotly by Mr. Eustis and Delegate Frank A. Day.

NEW YORK DELEGATION.

The Harrison Delegates Place Their Name in Print.

Chauncey M. Depew, Robert Sharkey, Theo. B. Willis, os. Benjamin, John B. Lawson, Jacob M. Patterson, Wm. T. Robertson, G. B. Sharpe, John A. Sleicher, Edward C. O'Brien, Edmund S. Goodale, Rufus T. Peck, Henry R. Parsons, Frank Hiscock, Chas. A. Moore, R. Ross Appleton, Horace Porter, S. C. Cruger, Elliott F. Shepard, Jas. W. Husted, J. A. Quackenbush, Thos. Austin, V. Lansing Waters, Wm. B. Cogswell, John L. Williams, Willis H. Howes.

The following delegates are also for Harrison: Chas. T. Hopp, Carelton E. Sanford, John McEwen, James S. Sherman.

Of the balance of the delegation eight at least are opposed to the nomination of Mr. Blaine and in favor of a third candidate. Mr. Thomas and Mr. Hopp were at first also counted for Harrison but the claim was subsequently withdrawn. The claim of the New York Harrison men that they to-night polled 30 votes in the delegation for Harrison is absolutely and unqualifiedly denied by Mr. Pratt, who says there is no difference in the New York delegation from what there has been from the beginning.

NEW IS NOT ALARMED.

He Sees No Ground for Harrison Men to be Discouraged.

Minneapolis, June 8.—John C. New said this morning that he saw no reason why the supporters of Gen. Harrison should be one whit discouraged. Ther was no doubt that the Blaine element was playing a waiting game for all it was worth, but its tactics would prove of no avail. He did not believe that it was fair to claim that the committee on credentials had been captured by the Blaine men, as so far there had been no real test of strength upon which to come to such a conclusion.

THIS MAY BE HARMONY,

But It's Much More Like a Smaller Word that Commences with the Same Letter.

Minneapolis, June 8.—As Committeeman Brady came out of his room this morning he met Committeeman Pinchback, of Louisiana, in the corridor.

"Anything new this morning?" asked Pinchback.

"Nothing, only Harrison is going to be nominated," responded Brady.

"In a pig's eye," retorted the Louisiana man and the pair parted.

MAKING THE LAWS

To Govern the Proceedings in Convention.

Minneapolis, June 8.—A double play, never surpassed for dexterity in any national game, base ball or politics, was witnessed by 12,000 people in Minneapolis. J. Sloat Fassett was at the bat and it was tally one for Mr. Blaine. If the very spirit of the man from Maine himself had suddenly seized the presiding officer's gavel in the opening session of the republican convention this afternoon and by some occult force caused the bewildered thousands, friends and foes alike, to break out in a hurricane of hurrahs at his name the effect could hardly have been so startling.

Indeed, it was almost literally just such a climax that actually took place. The frenzy of the cheering was something phenomenal and the strangeness of the situation, subtly brought about, was in fact that every Harrison man in the colossal assemblage was wildly applauding more frantically, if it were possible, than even the supporters of Blaine. For the extraordinary deftness and celerity with which the audacious move was carried to success, great credit was given young Mr. Fassett, the temporary chairman.

There was an instant general feeling however, that, clever as Fassett proved himself, the strategy that won originated in the craftful brain of a man greater that he, possibly a greater master adept than Clarkson or Platt or Quay! "Blaine's off-hand work" was the verdict most often heard as the crowds eagerly discussed the brilliant ruse.

Fassett, smooth, personally popular, bright, alert as he is youthful-looking, an avowed protege of the ex-secretary of state, had been decided upon by the balance of the Blaine lieutenants in control of the national committee as exactly the man for the emergency in view, and they had attempted to force him upon the convention, if such a thing were within the bounds of possibility. The prestige of Fassett's winning fight in the national committee against one of the strongest Harrison commanders, Senator Cullom, and the dread by the president's friends of committing a fatal mistake, by appearing in the role of a disgruntled minority, at the beginning of the proceedings aided the Blaine schemers to put Fassett into the chair as the temporary chairman of the convention.

No Harrison candidate was put up for the place, and the extraordinary deepness of the silence when the "noes" were called on his election was the only sign that nearly, or over half the delegates and spectators wished that anybody rather than the blonde, slightly-built, almost boyish New Yorker, had been chosen. Now came Fassett's speech opening the deliberations of the convention and right here was where the wizard influence broke loose that upset all the anti-Blaine calculations.

Fassett is not a great orator, but the decided majority of delegates, those who had elected him, and those who concluded not to vote against him, listened with apparent patience and a disposition to encourage his slightly amateurish references to "protection" and other stock cheer-evoking topics for a republican gathering. No antagonism was seemingly aroused either, when he leaned heavily to the Blaine side and significantly emphasized "reciprocity" in the middle of an otherwise ambiguous sentence. It was only when Fassett began to show signs of a disposition to refer directly by name to the presidential candidates that the nominee-makers in the hundreds of chairs in front of him and the thousands in the galleries above began to grow restive, and not a few looked daggers at the rash young man.

"All our leaders are strong men," proclaimed Fassett, glibly, while the Harrison men grinned. "Some may be stronger than others," he went rapidly on, with sublime indifference to the nervousness of everybody else, except possibly the few in the secret. The convention was brought to an intense strain by the consciousness that a comparatively inexperienced man was before them, practically juggling with dynamite, and to all appearances utterly unaware of the probable dangerous results, should he inadvertently mention Blaine's name first. The hall seemingly would have been blown to atoms with all the people in it, so surcharged to the point of explosion were the Harrison men with their pent-up feelings were he to awkwardly give Harrison the preference, the Blaine cause would have well-nigh been irretrievably ruined; and in the resulting discussion and possibly physical encounters on the floor a beginning could be made of a fued that would disrupt the party.

"Count over our chosen heroes," went on Fassett, while the convention seemed to shrivel up into one gigantic black frown—"Count me over our chosen heroes," he repeated half mechanically. Casabianca on the burning deck was seemingly the only parallel on record for the horribly mistaken sense of duty of that young, foolish chatrman at this moment, as he stood on the brink of disaster and raising aloft with his arm shouted with genuinely thrilling tones, "Lincoln," then "Seward," then "Grant," and paused. The convention rose in applause, hoping against hope that Fassett would get his wits in the interval afforded, and stop short. But no. Down the roll of honor he came, undismayed, and blithe as ever. "Sherman," he shouted, and the Ohio delegation led the convention in a magnificent cheer that roused the echoes, but did not check Fassett. "Garfield," "Logan," he went on. With his finger pointed aloft he seemed the impersonification of a Longfellow ideal "Excelsior."

Down came the uplifted arm like a flash of lightning, and, coupled together like twin comets, there shot across the hall the words "Blaine and Harrison."

The uproar of manifestations of delight from enemies and friends were tremendous, impartial and immediate. Fassett could at the moment have added his own name to the list of the party's heroes he had just then pronounced, and there would have been no dissent, so thoroughly had he played his part, and so hearty was the appreciation.

For nearly five minutes at intervals did the applause rise again and again, as the audience were reminded of his superb skilfulness and the happy outcome.

The other features of the day in the convention were popular ovations to McKinley and Reed, each in turn. McKinley modestly declined to take the opportunity for a self-boom given by the prolonged efforts to induce him to make a speech. Reed, though reluctant, too, finally yielded to the alluring temptation. He made a capital effort for an extemporaneous one.

OHIO'S SON.

He Could Doubtless Have the Nomination If He Would say the Word.

Minneapolis, June 8.—While the delegates and spectators were assembling in the hall there was much discussion of the probable action of the Ohio delegation, as is was reported that they were preparing to go to McKinley. W. C. Brown, of Fostoria, in the Foster district, who is a member of Gov. McKinley's staff, said to a reporter of the United Press, in regard to the report: "I have heard nothing of the receipt of a degram from Senator the receipt of a telegram from Senator Sherman, but the delegates from Ohio need no urging in behalf of McKinley. Whether Blaine men or Harrison men, they are first of all McKinley men and we would certainly present his name to the convention before the first ballott if he would permit. But he said yesterday that those who were his friends could show it in no better way than by voting for Mr. Harrison and that he would not permit the use of his name. We did not say anything about what we ought to do after the first ballot and if Harrison does not receive the nomination at the outset he never will, for, if the first ballot results in no nomination, the Ohio delegation will present the name of McKinley.

"We have assurances that the Massachusetts delegates will stand ready to second the nomination and in view of the situation in the New York delegation we have no doubt that everybody from that state would find the way out of the present strife by falling in line for McKinley. That, in my judgment, would nominate him."

JAMES G. BLAINE III.

His Existence May Yet Prove of Campaign Interest.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 8.—James G. Blaine, the third, son of James G. Blaine, jr., arrived here yesterday with his grandmother, Mrs. Nevins.

The child is a bright little fellow, and persistently asks questions about the fuss which is now being made over his distinguished relative.

Mrs. Nevins said that the love letters of James G. Blaine, jr., which he had written to her daughter, and which the latter had threatened to make public, were being held back for future use.

WAS NOT PROTECTED TIN.

A Delegate Walks Through a Glass Roof.

Minneapolis, June 8.—Wm. Blair, a Blaine delegate from Aurora, Ill., met with an almost fatal accident yesterday at the Nicollet house.

He arrived in the city Monday ahead of the Blaine delegation. Yesterday a brass band heading the delegation paraded in front of the hotel.

Blair saw the Aurora contingent and became enthusiastic. He thought the balcony was a tin roof, and, mounting the window sill, leaped out.

There was a crash of glass and a flow of blood, and the crowd was stupefied.

Blair dangled from a hole in the glass roof and soon became exhausted from the loss of blood.

C. W. Putnam, editor of the Aurora Daily Blade, soon reached Blair, who was rapidly approaching unconsciousness and dragged him out of the hole to the window. Then he was placed on a bed and Dr. Sherwood, of Superior, called.

The cords and veins in his left wrist were severed and the member hung helplessly by his side. He was also bruised internally.

This morning, however, he was resting quietly.

M'KINLEY TO PRESIDE.

Ohio's Governor in the Place Where Lightning Strikes.

Minneapolis, June 8.—Gov. McKinley this year will not be in the position in which republicans have grown to expect to see him in national conventions, viz.: That of chairman of the platform committee. The reason is to be found in the fact that he has a position of higher rank—permanent chairman—to which he was elected by the committee on permanent organization.

It was a cut-and-dried affair, none of the members caring to bring out a candidate against the tariff expert. Mr. McKinley was put in nomination and several members made complimentary speeches, and then he was declared the choice of the committee by acclamation.

His selection is due to the fact that he was conceded to be a man eminently fair, and while in favor of the nomination of President Harrison, the anti-administration forces had no objection whatever to him and it was they who suggested his name.

There was no ground on which objection could be urged, even if there was a desire on the part of any one to object, and thus there was avoided another contest over the presiding officer of the convention.

Mr. McKinley is regarded as a good parliamentarian. His voice has suffered somewhat from the effects of the severe campaigns through which he has gone, but he will doubtless be able to make himself clearly audible to all present. The announcement will be made at the meeting of the convention to-morrow. The other details of the organization were then perfected and the minor temporary officers were confirmed in their appointments.

IN MASS MEETING.

Republican Clubs Whoop It Up at Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, June 8.—The mass meeting at convention hall last night, under the auspices of the State League of Republican clubs, was attended by fully 10,000 people, the rainy weather outside appearing not to dampen the ardor of the enthusiastic republicans.

Upon the platform were seated nearly all the most prominent republican leaders in attendance upon the convention, and in the vast hall were seated indiscriminately, delegates, officers of the various republican leagues and a fair attendance of ladies.

The meeting surpassed even the convention proceedings of the day in point of enthusiasm and evidences of good feeling: the frequent references to Blaine, Harrison, McKinley, Sherman, Alger and other prominent republicans of national or world-wide reputation evoked the usual manifestations of approval and admiration. The speakers were about equally drawn from the two leading factions, and, although there was much friendly rivalry manifested in the cheers and counter-cheers throughout the evening, there seemed a general desire to maintain good feeling and harmony.

The meeting was called to order by John J. Goodenow, president of the Minnesota State League, who said this meeting augured well for the future meeting of the republican party, when 12,000 men will turn from the excitements of a political convention to discuss dispassionately the issues on which the party is founded. "Our party is like a great tree. The storm may rage and threaten destruction, but the mighty roots are down to the everlasting rock, and the tree is upright, stalwart, and indestructible; it defies all dangers. We have come here to-night to listen to the men who teach the truths on which the republican party is founded. We will listen to-night to the Hon. John M. Thurston, of Nebraska (cheers), and the Hon K. G. Horr, of Michigan (cheers).

Prominent men made the usual republican speeches and the meeting adjourned.

NEW STREET CAR TRACKS

The Consolidated Notified to Reconstruct at Once

The Lines Used Jointly by the Two Companies — Manager Lang's Prompt Compliance.

This morning Manager Lang of the Consolidated Street Car company received notice from the city authorities that it was necessary to at once reconstruct the lines jointly used by the Robison and Consolidated companies.

Manager Lang promptly responded that the mandate of the city would be obeyed, and the work of reconstruction would begin as soon as possible.

"Of course we will obey," Mr. Lang this morning said in response to a query from a Bee. It is clearly our duty and we will perform it. All we ask is a fair, square deal."

"When will the work of reconstruction begin?"

"Just as soon as we get the material and men ready. The tracks are worn out, although Mr. Robison some time ago swore they were good for 18 years yet."

The Consolidated is putting a good deal of money in here just now. The largest generator ever located in the city has been secured, and two boilers of 600-horse power are being added to the plant.

The reconstruction of the joint tracks will do away with the ordinance now pending in the council, and the object arrived at has been attained.

HE KILLED HIS MAN.

A War of Words Ends in a Murder.

Norwalk, O., June 8.—Amberson Bishop, of Havana, and Warren Franklin, son of Jerome Franklin, both well-known farmers of Richmond township, this county, got into a quarrel yesterday afternoon.

Franklin drew a razor and cut Bishop across the hand and face.

Bishop, who was plowing, pulled a whiffletree and struck Franklin a violent blow, killing him instantly, claiming self-defense. Bishop came to Norwalk this morning and surrendered to the authorities.

COMMITTED SUICIDE.

New York, June 8.—Bernard Woffel, the self-convicted firebug whose trial for arson came to an abrupt close in the court of oyer and terminen by reason of his confession yesterday, committed suicide in his cell in the Tombs prison some time between 1 and 6 o'clock this morning, by hanging himself to the waste pipe.

Wax came into use for candles in the twelfth century, and wax candles were esteemed a luxury in 1300, being but little used.

CLEVELAND'S

One rounded teaspoonful of Cleveland's Baking Powder does more and better work than a heaping teaspoonful of any other. A large saving on a year's bakings.

BAKING POWDER

A pure cream of tartar powder. Used in the U. S. Army and by teachers of Cookery.

Cleveland's is the standard, it never varies, it does the most work, the best work and is perfectly wholesome, as it contains no ammonia, no alum, no adulteration.

At Detroit, to-day, begins the annual meeting of the American Medical Association, to which 5,000 physicians belong.

It will be the greatest gathering of the fraternity ever seen in this country. Representatives of 100 colleges will be there. The buildings, lands and scientific apparatus of these institutions have an estimated value of not less than three and one-half millions of dollars.

REGRETS.

The possibility of getting something out of a Parlor Suite besides a harvest of regrets depends upon how the inside is made.

Are the springs of honest steel?

The stuffing good?—

And was the workman skilled in ways of making good, dependable work?

You can't answer the questions—

The inside is covered up—

And—

You didn't see it made.—

We make our Parlor Suites and guarantee them.

EVIDENCE OF PROSPERITY.

Business Men Must Find Quarters off Summit Street.

An instance of how Toledo is prospering came to light this morning. Last year about this time a business man desired to secure a location for about 60 days for a temporary venture, and looking about he had the choice of eight vacant stores, finally accepting one. To-day the same gentleman started out with a like purpose in view, but he reports it impossible to find a room on Summit street between Cherry and Perry streets, and as a result, will be compelled to go elsewhere. This, in view of the fact that many merchants who were formerly in business on Summit street, have removed to Superior, St. Clair and other streets, is an evidence that there is a spreading out which must be gratifying to all residents.

BAD TOLEDO BOY

Gets Into Trouble at Cleveland and Is Jailed.

The patrol wagon was called to the Detroit & Cleveland Steam Navigation company's dock at about 8 o'clock last evening where a young culprit by the name of Robert Patterson was found in the care of Patrolman Flavin. Robert had his plans laid to go to Detroit, and was on board the boat when intercepted. He was sent to the Lancaster Reform School from Toledo several years ago, but has been out on parole for about six weeks. Since his release he has lived with his uncle, a milk man named Gilman, at No. 659 Lorain street. Early yesterday morning Robert helped his uncle harness the horse before he drove away. When Mrs. Gilman arose she at once missed the boy, and later found that a purse containing $2.83 had been taken from the pocket of her dress. Robert was found with the purse in his pocket, but it was empty. The $2.25 which he had paid for a ticket was returned to him, and he was taken to the Central police station. The charge of petit larceny was placed against him.—Leader.

BRUTALLY BEATEN.

A Teamster Who Suffers at the Hands of Unknown Footpads.

George Richards sat in the captain's office at the police station this morning, a total wreck.

He had been knocked down, robbed and brutally beaten. His face was mangled into an unrecognizable mass.

Richards is a teamster, and yesterday morning he was found in the road near the Armada mills.

He had been jumped upon at night by unknown persons, brutally beaten and robbed of all the money on his person.

He can remember nothing about the affair except that before he was struck a man approached him and represented himself to be a policeman.

His head is cut in many places, both eyes closed, his cheeks laid open and his flesh pounded to a pulp, presenting a horrible appearance.

He will probably be taken to the hospital.

IN THE U. S. COURT.

The Petit Jurors—Plead Guilty—The O'Neill Case on Trial.

This morning the following parties plead guilty to slight violations of the internal revenue laws and were fined $10 and costs.

C. F. Miller, Defiance, failure to display special tax stamp.

William Goodlin and Joseph Noble, Van Wert, same.

The following petit jurors were called and sworn in this morning: Samuel Blanchard, West Toledo; James T. Boyd, Bloomville; W. H. H. Thompson, Marion; J. L. Cook, Nevada; F. W. Alvord, Sandusky; James Huston, Vanlue; W. B. Kitzmiller, Stryker; J. D. Foucht, Upper Sandusky; J. P. Maroney, Wakeman; G. H. Palmer, Defiance; Alonzo Hall, Tiffin; A. Goddard, Toledo; George D. Acker, Fostoria; Henry Lunderman, Napoleon; D. D. McCuhan, Findlay; Samuel Nims, Bellevue; John O'Conner, Lima; John Norway, Defiance.

The case of Francis O'Neill v. The Pennsylvania Railroad company, is occupying the attention of Judge Ricks and a jury to-day. It is a personal injury case and, as there are about twenty-five witnesses for the plaintiff alone, it promises to occupy considerable time.

THE RETREAT MISSION.

Annual Meeting Held Yesterday Afternoon.

Result of the Past Year's Work Reviewed by the Secretary—Election of Officers.

The Ladies of the Retreat Mission board held their eighth annual meeting at the Adams Street Mission yesterday afternoon. Devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Brigham, after which the following annual report of the secretary was read and accepted:

The home has sheltered and cared for during the year, 25 girls; girls discharged, 23; girls died, 1; present number of inmates, 6; babies born, 18; babies died, 1; babies still born, 1; present number, 1; homes found for 10; mothers keeping, 6. Some money has been expended for improvements. The plumbing was the main expense. It was found to be in a very defective condition. It is now in perfect sanitary order, and the health and comfort of the home materially benefited thereby. The home has been wonderfully blessed in its freedom from all epidemic or contageous disease.

This is, I believe, the eighth anniversary of the home. During these years the number who have sought and found shelter must have reached into the hundreds. Erring and sinful they may be, though not by any means, always bad, as you would learn to know if you had the opportunity, as we have, to become acquainted with their history, of the fierce temptations that many of them have to meet, and their fall is generally brought about, not through the lower passions of their nature, but through those that give to womanhood its greatest charm—trusting, confiding love, and perfect faith in the one who has gained their affections. And I know your hearts would be touched with pity (as ours are) for this poor unfortunate class who are so spurned, and for whom we have so little sympathy.

Dear friends, are we not too apt to wrap the mantle of self-righteousness about our shoulders, and pass by on the other side, giving only scorn when we should give sympathy and aid? The great throbbing human heart of the compassionate Savior, the only perfect and pure one, gave only four words of rebuke: "Go and sin no more."

In all these years we only know positively of seven or eight who have gone back to lives of shame. This surely is an encouraging record. And think you not, friends, it incentive enough for you to give us your help, prayers and encouragement to go on in this labor, feeble and imperfect though it may be, of saving the lost?

You know the words of the good book, "He who converteth a sinner from the error of his way shall save a soul from death, and hide a multitude of sin." And with God's grace and your help, we hope to save many precious souls to lives of virtue and usefulness.

The year 1892, though fraught with many blessings, has not been without a cloud. First, financial embarrassment, owing to the complications of matters at police headquarters, caused us considerable anxiety, and we were often sorely tried for ways and means to meet our indebtedness. Perhaps these light afflictions, which are but for a moment, are but to test our faith, and give us a larger trust and fuller faith in the goodness of our God.

About the holidays our beloved matron's health declined so rapidly that it made it imperative that she leave the home at once and seek surgical treatment. It was then that the clouds seemed to gather thick and fast.

The matron in charge, Mrs. Brown, was taken dangerously ill, and the cloud seemed to suddenly gather with thick darkness, when on March 1, the cloud that seemed to threaten with so much dread was after all "big with mercy," and broke in blessing upon us, when it was announced, so unexpectedly and joyously, at a meeting of the board on that day by Mrs. Cook, that God in his goodness and mercy had so far restored our dear Mrs. Mulford to health, that she was ready and willing to resume her place as matron of the home. Since that time there is one spot in Toledo where the sun has shone right on through cloud and storm.

We desire to extend grateful thanks to Wm. Kirkby, ex-infirmary director, and his board, for their kind help and assistance; to the physicians, Drs. Gittell and Anderson, who have responded so promptly to our call on all occasions; to Mr. Ford, who has aided us when it came to unravelling knotty questions of the law; to the advisory board for their advice and counsel; to any and all who have helped in any way to carry on this (as we know it to be) worthy charity. Respectfully submitted.

HANNAH E. BASHARE,
Secretary.

A vote of thanks was extended to the infirmary directors for kindnesses shown and their prompt response when aid was asked for. Dr. Anderson was present and read the report of the medical staff of the retreat, a synopsis of which is as follows:

"I have the honor to present the report of the medical staff of the Retreat for part of the last year. Dr. Gillette and myself in charge since last November. Since that time we have had nine confinements under our charge; in each case both mother and child have done well. We have performed two operations. Of other ailments we have had our share. La grippe visited the Retreat in January and several of the inmates were afflicted. By far the most serious case, however, was that of Mrs. Browne, the matron, who was seriously ill for several weeks. We are happy to be able to report that there have been no deaths. There is at the present time one girl sick with malaria fever. We are pleased to report that the medicine room has been stocked up with both medicines and appliances. Plumbing has been attended to and the sanitary condition of the Retreat is good. Your medical staff, in accepting this trust, have felt that they owe a duty to these girls temporarily entrusted to their care. We feel that they should be sent out from the institution in the best possible physical condition, so that they may again take up the burden of life without the additional misfortune of ill-health. Although there has been a change of matrons three times since we began our work, friendly and appreciative relations have always existed."

On motion this report was accepted, with many thanks for the efficient work and kindness of the physicians.

HIBERNIANS CONVENE.

Annual State Convention of the A. O. H. at Cleveland.

Cleveland, June 8.—(Special.)—The annual state convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians opened at Hibernian hall yesterday.

The forenoon was called to order by Michael Stanton, the state delegate. After expressing his pleasure at meeting so many of the members of the order he introduced Mgr. T. P. Thorpe, who addressed the convention at some length. He had nothing but good words and high hopes for the Ancient Order of Hibernians; in fact, he paid the highest tribute to the order and the work which it is doing. At the close of the address a committee on credentials was appointed and the meeting adjourned until 2 o'clock. At that time the convention was called to order, but the committee on credentials were not ready to report so an adjournment until 7 o'clock was taken.

At 10 o'clock in the morning as many of the delegates as had arrived in the city accompanied by three companies of Hibernian Rifles marched to the cathedral on Erie street, where high mass was celebrated by Mgr. Thorpe.

We Never Shrink

From our duty to our customers, consequently the clothing we sell never shrinks on our customers. We prefer to leave a man enough room to laugh in his sleeve if he wants to, and as we wish our customers to grow more we would not sell them clothing that grows less. The best material therefore, is put in our garment. They are made in the best fashions by the best workmen, and if we don't ask the best prices for them it is because we are more anxious for customers than money. We are offering a special reduction on Summer Overcoats of 20 per cent. Our Straw Hat sale is still drawing the crowds, and we still lead in 25 and 50 cent neckwear.

Working Men and the Tariff.

The boast having been made that workingmen in factory towns support the McKinley idea of protection, the Boston Transcript, a republican newspaper, publishes a table of figures that will bear reviewing. In 1880, the tariff was not an issue at all, and if it had been, Gen. Garfield was a tariff reformer who "believed that every revision of the law should be made in the direction of free trade." But, as said, it was not, and the state of Massachusetts gave the republicans a majority of 53,000. From the date of Cleveland's famous message, the education of the people on trade questions has been going on. In 1891, the McKinley tariff bill was made, specifically, the issue between the parties, and Gov. Russell, democrat, was elected on that issue by a plurality of 6,467 votes.

The figures referred to, published in the Transcript, show the difference in votes in the manufacturing towns of the state. Thirty-seven towns are noted, and in every instance the change is about like this: "In Lowell, a democratic gain in the ten years of 1,467; in Lawrence, of 947; in Lyons, of 1,246; in Brockton, 1,062." The man who made the computation for the Transcript signs himself, "A Republican Always." He concludes his calculations with the saying:

It is evident that not only in Massachusetts, but in Rhode Island and Connecticut, the three states where there is more manufacturing industry to the square mile than in any other part of the country, there is an indisputable tendency toward the democratic party, which has been showing itself since the republican party has been taking more and more a high-protection course.

The secret ballot has helped to this end, no doubt, and a free expression of opinion is scarcely yet expressed by votes. The old spirit of coercion is hard to down, and when support for a man's family is involved, the unprejudiced vote is easier to exploit in theory than to be sure of in practice.

A West Coast Opinion

The San Francisco Call says, "Blaine and Hill stand for machine politics; Harrison and Cleveland for the people's choice." That "the Quays, and the Clarksons, and the Platts, and Boutelles are all for Blaine, because they believe that with him in the white house they would constitute the power behind the throne."

Cleveland, it says, "doesn't even know how to distribute patronage to help himself."

George B. Loud, of New York City, explains in three columns and a half, in the Sunday Advertiser, how President Harrison has insulted republicans black and white in the South, and Union veterans, by ignoring them in his appointments and giving the places to ex-confederates. He felt sure of the negro and soldier vote and wanted to win and conciliate the "rebels." Mr. Loud makes the statement that 90 per cent. of the federal officers in the southern states are ex-confederates and their relatives. He concludes by saying that, "a judicious distribution of patronage" would have saved Harrison, but now, re-nominated, he would be snowed under and the party with him. A noble old party, surely, which depends upon "distribution of patronage" to save its life and make possible its continuance in power. Mr. Loud is one of the most rabid republican partisans on deck. He must know whereof he speaks when he makes such unqualified assertion.

New York state is doing all this mischief. The Harrison plant was growing all right until the leaders of the party in New York combined to blast it. Blaine was the agent, willing or unwilling. The president is getting his pay for ignoring Platt in his cabinet make up. The entire patronage of the state, handed over to Platt, Fassett & Co., ought to have pacified, but it did not. Bossism, never equaled, is rampant in republican councils to-day.

If our cousins over-sea read American newspapers (which they do not) the record of weeks past would discourage them from all thoughts of the world's fair. Lists of "the dead and wounded," with "nobody to blame for the catastrophe" constitute a great bulk of the dispatches. To these add fire and flood and other d'sasters and the record is a frightful one.

A special to the New York World declares that "the venal colored delegates from the south hold the balance of power at Minneapolis, and the highest bid for their votes will be the determining factor in the balance. John C. New says over his own signature: "A few changes have been effected—I do not say how."

It is entirely proper for Mr. Oliver, of Pennsylvania, millionaire manufacturer of iron, to shape the tariff plank of the republican platform. The law was made chiefly by him and his associates, and for them. The agriculturalists of the party should be glad the matter is placed in such "competent" hands.

The New York Recorder says: "Our own Chauncey is not saying much at Minneapolis, but it is very certain that he is doing great work." A slick one like Depew, doing political work with his mouth shut, can mean only one thing. But "Our Chauncey" wouldn't do that!

Kentucky has a new law compelling all railroads in the state to provide separate cars for negroes, giving ninety days from date of passage before it shall take effect. The smokers on a railway train are glad of a special car; will the negroes be thankful for such distinction?

Will the fight in its progress and its outcome, in Minneapolis, have any lessons for the democratic house in New York, which is just now divided against itself and determined to take that division into a national convention?

The city of Minneapolis and the western breezes that come blowing over it will be an eye-opener to a few old provincials of the seaboard who never read or hear of anything particular that transpires west of the Alleghenies.

The Ohio man is very conspicuous at Minneapolis. He is not wise in insisting that Ohio is not a doubtful state. That, believed, might send a majority of him into retiracy.

"We are not here as warring factions," eloquently said Chairman Fassett. No, Mr. Fassett, you are friends and brothers to the hilt of the knife. That is everywhere apparent.

Warner Miller hasn't forgotten how he was left "lying outside the breastworks."

There are no plumes in grandpa's hat.

Another "marriage of millions" is being variously described in the news journals. It refers to the matrimonial union of Miss Pullman, of Chicago, and Mr. Carolin of San Francisco. In a half column dispatch the five words, given above, are about all the mention the groom gets beyond the fact that his father is worth several millions. The trousseau, made in Paris, is probably the richest and finest that ever went into the city of Chicago. And Pullman, pere, is a great "home market" man—like all other manufacturers. He wants the common people to pay duty on what they buy so the families of the bounty-fed can afford to buy abroad.

Mistress J. Ellen Foster is proclaimed all over the United States, by wire, as being at the convention "with a full hand," whatever that may mean. She tells the interviewers what work women are doing for the party. In the meantime her "non-partisan W. C. T. Unions" are holding sessions in different localities. Of course J. Ellen is shocked most to death about that mammoth bar at party headquarters but as she is strictly "non-partisan" she must not say anything about it.

Our evening neighbor prints a picture of the interior of the largest bar-room for the sale of liquors ever fitted up for any occasion—that at the West house in Minneapolis, for the accommodation of delegates to the republican convention. It hasn't any "pulverizing" editorial in the same issue, or any invitation to prohibitionists to come and join "the temperance party."

The Post complains that the city of Washington is overrun with vagrants. Why doesn't the city devise some plan to set them to work? Why do our cities have so many idle men? It would seem that the heart center of the country's law-making should not be helpless in the face of an army of tramps.

Dr. Parkhurst is on the raging sea, bound for Europe and a rest from his pulpit and police labors. A number of New York ministers have signified their willingness to go on with the work he has inaugurated, though not, perhaps, in precisely his manner.

MAUMEE TO MINNEAPOLIS

Blaine Men Pulling the String on Tucker.

The Statesman is in a Hole—He Will be Damned if He Does and be Damned if He Don't.

Delegate Tucker has never in his life received so many telegrams as he has during the past 24 hours.

The Blaine men of the city are pulling the string and it is taut to breaking.

Locke Curtis started out yesterday with a petition requesting Tucker to vote for Blaine. The petition was liberally signed and as quick as names were secured they were wired to Tucker. To-day the same tactics are being kept up, and the wires have been red hot with demands, entreaties and commands all morning.

The Harrison people say Tucker is all right. He has his guardian along, and Waldorf has got the drop on Mr. Tucker at closer range. It was given out, however, this morning that Tucker had wired a friend here that he would vote for Blaine on the first ballot.

UPPER SANDUSKY

Democrats Elect Delegates to the Lima Convention.

Upper Sandusky, June 8.—Pursuant to a call a convention of democrats was held in the court house here yesterday for the selection of 29 delegates to the judicial convention to be held at Lima. The attendance was quite fair. Secretary Hare, of the central committee, called the convention to order. He stated the object that the action taken at a previous convention, authorizing a mass delegation to Lima, was wrong and not in accordance with the call, and that a proper delegation was necessary, not only for the above reason, but for the fact that word from Lima was to the effect that a mass delegation could not be seated.

Judge Smalley was made chairman and E. D. Bare secretary. Further remarks on the object of the convention were made by Joel Gibson, Senator Gear and others. Objections were raised by T. D. Lanker and Theodore Parker, but the convention resolved unanimously in favor of a picked delegation, and the following were chosen:

The following resolution was also adopted:

"Resolved, By the democracy of Wyandot county in convention assembled, that the delegates this day selected to represent said county in the Third district judicial convention, to be held at Lima, June 8, 1892, be and they are hereby instructed to vote for the nomination of Thomas Beer, of Crawford county, for the office of circuit judge for said district, and be it also further resolved, that the delegates in attendance at said convention be authorized to cast the vote to which said county is entitled in said convention."

CURRENT COMMENT.

Bro. Halstead in the role of a peacemaker at Minneapolis is as funny as a little wagon with a bulldog stationed on the front seat.—Boston Herald.

But who is to be the nominee for vice-president? Has no one a word to say for the Honorable Levi P. Morton? Why this silence?—Indianapolis News.

The republicans are coming to the conclusion that this is not a "billion dollar" country after all. This is because they are not doing the billionairing.—Oakland (Cal.) Times.

At any rate it is beyond reason for anybody to look upon Mr. Blaine as a legitimate and honest candidate for the nomination. If he should take it now he would bear it away in political shame and disgrace to be defeated worse than any candidate ever nominated for the office.—Milwaukee Journal.

Many a truth has been said in jest, and many another in verse. It must seem that way to Mr. William Wilde, who, having found his spouse somewhat peremptory and exacting in his hours of ease, had only to let his brow be moderately wrung by anguish to bring a ministering angel to her feet. It is a pretty sight, and one of exceptional botanical interest, to see the oak twine round the stalwart ivy.—New York World.

If Mr. Harrison is nominated what will become of all those able republican politicians who are averring that he cannot be elected? Will they suddenly change their minds? Will they sit down and weep? Or will they just roll up their sleeves and hustle, with amorous eyes glued to the lovely federal offices?—Chicago News-Record.

We advise our northern contemporaries to deal as gently as they can with the manifestations of human naturew hich take place in the south and are duplicated at the north whenever the opportunity offers. That they are deplorable is not to be denied. But the cause that leads to them—the situation out of which they are developed—is more deplorable still. It is no light thing, may it please your honor and gentlemen of the jury, for the women and girls of the whole country side to live in practically a state of siege—to be afraid to venture to a neighbor's or to the school-house lest some black beast shall leap from the bushes and give them over to a fate worse than death.—Atlanta Constitution.

The statement in a San Francisco newspaper that Chinese laborers are being utilized as beasts of burden in the work of market gardening in Alameda, while creditable to the physical energy of the Chinese nature, is repugnant to American ideas of manhood. The fact that the Chinamen enter into such service of their own volition makes the spectacle none the less repulsive. Our boasted civilization would, indeed, be a failure if such a system of peonage should be permitted in any one of the states of the union.—Philadelphia Record.

Mr. Fanning was about 35 years of age and had been with the company some twelve years. He leaves a wife and two children. He was a great favorite among the railroad men and all who met or knew him, and his sad death is learned with deep sorrow.

INTERESTING SESSION

Of the Toledo Baptist Association.

Addresses by Revs. Read, of Wauseon, and Jameson, of Detroit—Ladies' Meeting This Morning — Good Attendance in Spite of the Rain.

As stated yesterday the afternoon session of the Toledo Baptist association was taken up with reports of standing committees, election of officers, a general review of the work accomplished during the year, etc. The names of the following gentlemen were presented by the nominating committee and elected: Moderator, Rev. A. St. James; clerk, Rev. C. A. Gardner; treasurer, C. J. Bindley; trustees for three years, Robert Nelson and Elias Fassett.

At 4 o'clock a conference was held on the relation of the churches to the state mission work, in which the churches gave five-minute reports, aided by the convention. Mr. Thomas J. Rowley, of the Second Baptist church, Toledo, read a paper on "What the Convention Has Done for Other Churches in the Toledo Association," which was followed by a general discussion on the paper, and on the welfare of the association, in which Revs. Hunt, Sloan, Read, Gardner, St. James, Williams, Boyd, and others took part.

The evening meeting opened with a praise service after which the following committees were appointed:

On anniversary—Rev. D. S. Boyd, Deacon Hill, and Deacon Watson; resolutions, Herbert Agate, Revs. Sloan and Dyer; obituary, H. L. Mosely, Rev. W. W. WANTED, A COAT.

The Pythian Sisters Take the Proper Steps

Toward Securing the Funds for the Purchase By Giving an Entertainment, Supper and Dance.

But how to get him, aye there was the rub, for a goat costs a pretty penny. However, a secret society cannot be run without one, and so the members of Martha Washington lodge put their heads together and the result of the contact was a rousing affair at Pythian castle last evening, in the shape of an entertainment, followed by supper and dancing.

Wm. Beatty made a few remarks and acted as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Albert Smith opened the musical program with a pleasing piano solo. C. B. Bargman sang a comic song in an original manner. Miss Eppstein gave an amusing recitation on "An Ignorant Woman's Rights." A vocal solo by Miss Mary Hoffman was well rendered. Messrs. Collingwood and Snell gave a very pretty duet on the mandolin and guitar and were obliged to respond to an encore. A very clever little lady, Edna Smith, proved herself an elocutionist of rare talent, and was the recipient of numerous compliments. Will S. Stackhouse, who can juggle a piano with the best of them, gave the ivories a twist that made strong men weep with joy. Chas. O'Brien was right next door to Mr. Stackhouse and caught the audience with his clever specialty work. Miss Miller and Mrs. Mitchem played a piano duet in good style. One of the best features of the program was the recitation "Laureani," by Miss Agnes Early, an elocutionist of considerable power. She appeared as a living statue and told a beautiful story in a charming manner. The vocal solo by Prof. Poulin, Mr. Trombley and Miss Van Dusen was heartily encored. Geo. W Stevens shouted.

Miss Flora Herskovits also won honors as an elocutionist in her excellent rendition of Mackaine's Child. She has a rich, sympathetic voice and an easy action. The entertainment closed with a Martha Washington tableau, in which a large company of the sisters participated.

Then the guests proceeded to the ball room above, where dancing was enjoyed to excellent music by Wolff until a late hour. Supper was served during intermission.

The committee on arrangements consisted of Mrs. Albert Breed, Mrs. Will Couldwell, Mrs. Neel, Mrs. Harry Johanning and Mrs. Tillie Heitzheimer. The floor managers were Mrs. C. F. Arnold, Mrs. G. C. Briggs, Mrs. Louis Volk, Mrs. F. H. Stone, Mrs. M. Jacoby, Mrs. Jacob Plattner, and Mrs. Ed Breed.

The committee who arranged the excellent program was Mrs. Will Couldwell, Mrs. Julia Hall, and Mrs. C. B. Bayman.

All of the members were on the reception committee and Mrs. Tom Guitteau and Mrs. Rob French were in special charge of the main room.

The committee on program desires, through the Bee to express their thanks to the ladies and gentlemen who so kindly proffered their services, and who did so much to make the affair a success.

Martha Washington lodge was organized March 18, this year, with 115 members. In the short period that has intervened since that time the membership has been increased to over 150. All knights in good standing, their wives, mothers, daughters and sisters are admitted, and the sisters desire it known that all who are eligible will be welcomed in the ranks. The object of the order is to increase fraternal, charitable and benevolent work all over the world, and if all lodges are made of such enthusiastic material as is Martha Washington lodge, they will accomplish their end.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

A Call Down on Facts.

To the Editor:—The Blade of last evening denies that the government lends money to the national bankers. It seems to me that this denial is rather a reckless one. Let us see. Mr. Smith deposits $100,000 with the government. In return he receives 890,000 in bank bills. The expense of printing these, says the Blade, is paid by Mr. Smith. But, says the Blade, Mr. Smith could have his printing done by a private company just as well. It will not deny, however, that in either case the bonds would have to be deposited with the government. In other words, before the government would stand good for the bank bills it would require the custody of the bonds as its security. And not until such security was established would the bills be accepted by the public. But the Blade says that these bills are not money, but only promises to pay money. Suppose we should admit this. Still it remains as a fact that the government on the strength of the bonds deposited with it, lends its credit to Mr. Smith. And these $90,000 in bills serve him all the purposes that would $90,000 in gold.

Does not the Blade quibble just a little in attempting to get rid of the fact that the government lends money to the bondholders to bank on? I am not calling in question just now our system of banking, but only the Blade's criticism on those who do find fault with it.

ON CREMATION.

It matters little to the winged sprite
That flits and flits the clustered stars among,
What fate befell the useless vesture thing
So sadly earthward at the time of flight
Eyes dazzled by a sudden flood of light
Cannot look into darkness; hymns are sung
In vain for spirit ears, on which has rung
God's perfect music, heard at last aright.
Yet for this worn-out garment seems more fit
Than beak of Parsee bird, or wormy shroud,
Or grimalkin ages in Egyptian pit,
A chant of merry fire tongues singing loud,
While deft flame fingers shall unravel it,
And slim wind fingers weave it into cloud.

THE BOARD OF MANAGERS

Of the Industrial School Held Their Annual Meeting

In the School Rooms on Ontario Street Tuesday Afternoon—Interesting Report Read by Mrs. Secor—Addresses by Dr. Williams, Rev. Scadding and Mr. Swayne.

The board of managers of the Industrial school, and a large number of friends, were present at the annual meeting held in the school rooms, Tuesday afternoon. Hon. N. H. Swayne presided, and Rev. C. Scadding conducted devotional exercises. Miss M. Dickenson acted as secretary pro tem.

The secretary, Mrs. C. A. Secor, read the seventeenth annual report, which is a most interesting account of the work accomplished during the year. Mrs. Secor has filled the office of secretary for the past fifteen years, and her friends declare that her reports grow spicier each year. The report is given in full.

In presenting the seventeenth annual report of the Industrial school we appeal to the forbearance of friends, who have again come to listen to the already familiar report of our work, that which is assumed, not in the hope of earthly reward, but through Christian love, and for the uplifting of the very poorest children of Toledo. As we have before stated, by the request of the board of managers, the school committee receive no children who can attend the public schools, but confine themselves entirely to those who are too poor to take advantage of the ordinary provision made by the city. The need of food and clothing is the test applied. Children are received as young as 3, and as old as 12. The majority of these have mothers who go out to day's work, and to whom it is a great relief to feel that their little ones are neither running about the streets, nor are under the questionable influences of their neighbors in tenement houses. Parents express much gratitude at this provision made for their protection, and many children are sent on the recommendation, and by the advice of those having children here. We feel that they appreciate the advantages to be gained through the various channels. Our school is filled to its capacity with happy children, well fed and warmly clothed, wholly through charity. The outlay necessary to support all this makes a heavy bill of expense, as will be seen in our treasurer's report, but we believe it would be impossible to use our funds more judiciously. The good behavior of the children has been highly commended by matron and teacher. Considering that their environments have not been such as to give them any clear idea of duty, we are satisfied if, at the appeal to their better natures, they show a disposition to try to improve. If we do not cultivate virtues that will make them conspicuous before the world, we may inculcate principles of honesty and sobriety, and habits of industry. The ordinary hindrances in dealing with this roving-loving class of children have been met with, and always will be, and the great irregularity in attendance makes it doubly hard to keep track of them, and to clothe them with judgment and discretion, but in spite of our discouragements we are sure that the amount of loafing and begging from door to door is much less than it was before the school was started. We have the names of 86 children on our register, and 47 families, the average attendance being 28. During the year one boy has been sent to the Children's home, two girls have been placed in good homes, two girls have gone to service, and 19 have entered the public schools. Last fall Mrs. Lawrence Newman offered to support the kindergarten, furnish the supplies, including a piano, and pay a teacher. The generous offer was immediately accepted, but alas! we found ourselves in a dilemma, as we had no room for this department; but we put our heads together, and with the aid of a carpenter (Mr. Barnes of Toledo—not New York) we soon transformed our store-room into a comfortable room for the little kindergartners. Mrs. V. H. Ketcham paying the carpenter's bill, and Mrs. Emerson and Mrs. Newman fitting up the room. Miss Chapin, the efficient teacher, says: "There have been 41 names enrolled: 13 have been promoted into the school proper, three have left the city, 10 have been very irregular, and 15 have been in daily attendance." Miss Blinn, of the Training school, assisted Miss Chapin part of the year. At Christmas time the whole school were made happy with suitable gifts, and Mrs. Newman provided a Christmas tree for the kindergarten, with a doll for each girl and a drum for each boy, which, with candy, books, etc., and their own work, consisting of a blotter for father, and a needle book for mother, gave them a very merry Christmas. On Valentine's day the sentiment of the day was observed by a postman with valentines, and on Washington's birthday they were patriotically remembered by Mr. and Mrs. Newman, who visited the school and presented each pupil with a large flag. The good done by these acts of benevolence cannot be estimated. The work committee has labored well and hard to clothe these children, and we cannot forbear calling attention to the amount of hard work required to do this. The cutting out and fitting, trying on, taking delegations to the shoe stores, to be fitted to, and attending to the credit system of giving tickets, whereby they are earned, requires frequent attendance at the school building and hard days' labor, for which the ladies of the work committee deserve especial praise. One hundred and eighty-nine garments have been cut; 335 articles of clothing distributed, 161 old and 174 new, including 94 pairs of shoes and 42 pairs of mittens; 86 garments have been made in the sewing school. The visiting committee have made 170 visits. The mothers enjoy these visits and express themselves as grateful for such a school. We have desired to add a day nursery in which the babies of the family could be kept through the day, which would tend to promote greater regularity of attendance, as often the older girls have to stay home and tend baby, while the mother is out at work. But our present building is too small to admit of this much-needed branch; in fact, we are hindered by the unsuitableness of our present building, the children sitting three on a seat, when only two would be comfortable. We have worked modestly and patiently with the hope that some one would, in the goodness of his heart, and devotion to the precepts of our divine Examplar, endow this Industrial school with a fund which, with the $6,000 building fund, which we have already saved, would enable us to erect a building adequate to our needs, and build to himself a monument as lasting as the memory of those he benefits. The "James M. Comly" fund of $500, presented by Mrs. Comly as a memorial to her husband, should stimulate others to make like bequests. Surely, there are those who could give as much. Since our last meeting we have lost two members of our advisory board, Mr. J. K. Secor and Mr. Solomon Keeler, both of whom were ever ready to assist us with contributions and encouraging words. Our matron and teacher have been faithful and efficient with increased duties. Mr. Tait has this year, and for many years, baked all the bread used, and when we know that fifteen or twenty loaves are used at one meal, we can form an idea of the immense number used during the year. He has also donated many baskets of cakes, buns, etc., for which the ladies and children feel grateful; also to Mrs. Coldham for her generous meat pies; to Mrs. A. L. Kelsey for one good dinner every week; to Brown, Eager & Hull for donations of books, slates, pencils, etc., and all who have assisted us. Mothers' meetings have been held as usual, and with good results, the mothers of the children coming and sewing during the afternoon, and are served with a good tea. The year has been one that we can look back upon with satisfaction and we trust that we may receive the same generous responses to our appeals for assistance and hearty co-operation in the years to come.

The treasurer, Mrs. J. N. Stevens, then read her report:

Balance on hand, $758.35; received from collections and donations, $1,799.70; from annual memberships, $102; from memorial fund, $100; from West Presbyterian church collections, $32.96; from First Congregational church collections, $48.12; interest on bond and deposit, $228.22; total, $3,079.35. Expenditures: Paid household expenses, $693.38; school expenses, $237.40; clothing and shoes, $98; building fund, $105; premium and interest on bond, $30.60; memorial fund, $100; special tax, $14.22; balance on hand, $855.65.

Dr. Williams, Rev. Scadding and Mr. Swayne spoke words of encouragement, and bid the ladies good speed in their work.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. P. F. Berdan; secretary, Mrs. C. A. Secor; treasurer, Mrs. J. N. Stevens.

HURON COUNTY STORM.

It Raged in All Its Fury Tuesday Afternoon.

Norwalk, O., June 8.—(Special)—A terrific wind and hail storm visited Fitchville township, this county, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

J. S. Pratt, J. T. Lazelle, James Rhineberger had all their windows broken and immense damage was done to the wheat crop by the hail stones, which were as large as walnuts.

J. Gifford's crop of several acres was totally destroyed. Houses were unroofed and trees and fences blown down.

While plowing, D. H. Hodges had two horses killed by lightning. The fluid struck Hodges' left elbow, jumped to the truss he was wearing, followed around his body, down his right leg into the ground, tearing off the sole of his boot.

WAY OFF COLOR.

The hue of health! Who can mistake it? The white brow, the deepened tint of the cheek, these associated with brightness and animation of the eye, a cheery expression of the countenance, are infallible indicia that the liver is performing its functions actively, and that consequently digestion and the bowels are undisturbed. If, however, the complexion and eyeballs have a saffron tint, or the face is drawn and void of sprightliness and animation, the biliary gland is almost certain to be out of order. Rectify the difficulty speedily, thoroughly, with the paramount anti-bilious specific, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which promptly remedies not only the above outward and visible signs of biliousness, but also the sick headaches, constipation, vertigo, fur upon the tongue, nausea, sour breath and pains through the right side which characterize it. The liver is always seriously involved in malaria, for which the Bitters is a sovereign specific. This medicine remedies with equal promptitude and completeness, kidney complaint, dyspepsia, rheumatism and nervousness.

THE RED, RED WEST.

I've traveled in heaps of countries and studied all kinds of art
Till there isn't a critic or connoisseur who's properly deemed so smart,
And I'm free to say that the grand results of my explorations show
That somehow paint gets redder the further out west I go!

I've sipped the voluptuous sherbet that the Orientals serve,
And I've felt the glow of red Bordeaux tingling each separate nerve,
I've sampled your classic Massic under an arbor green,
And I've reeked with song a whole night long over a brown poteen.

The stalwart brew of the land o' cakes, the schnapps of the frugal Dutch,
The much-praised wines of the distant Rhine, and the beer praised overmuch,
The ale of dear old London and the port of southern climes,
'All, ad infin., have I taken in a hundred thousand times.

Yet, as I aforementioned, these other charms are naught
Compared with the paramount gorgeousness with which the west is fraught;
For art and nature are just the same in the land where the porker grows,
And the paint keeps getting redder the further out west one goes.

Our savants have never discovered the reason why this is so,
And 90 per cent. of the laymen care less than the savants know—
It answers every purpose that this is manifest;
The paint keeps getting redder the further you go out west.

Give me no home 'neath the pale pink dome of European skies—
No cot for me by the salmon sea that far to the southward lies;
But away out west I would build my nest on top of a carmine hill,
Where I can paint, without restraint, creation redder still!

As a matter of fact, there are plenty of Methodists of both sexes "in good and regular standing" who like to dance, and may be seen in dancing parties or even at balls. The general conference of the church has refused to abolish the rule that discountenances dancing, but even that fact is unlikely to reduce the number of Methodist dancers, at least in New York city.

Marriage may be a failure in San Francisco, and it may not, but it is interesting to note that comparatively few people are making the experiment. What it is in the various cities and states of the union is not recorded accurately.

One of the interesting features of the revival of "Richelieu" by Henry Irving at the Lyceum theater in London recently was the presence in the stalls of the veteran actor, Henry Howe, who "created" the part of Francois in the play when it was first put on the stage. That was in 1839, when Macready acted the title role, and Mr. Howe was then a young man of 29. He is now a hale and handsome octogenarian.

The recent census in France showed a foreign population in the country (outside of Paris) of 84,299 Germans, 371,300 Belgians, 295,741 Italians, 80,387 Swiss, 33,166 Luxemborgians, 67,762 Spaniards, 25,334 English and Irishmen, 12,704 Russians, and 4,910 citizens of the United States. Besides these, Paris has a population of 181,562 foreigners. Women of foreign birth are included in these numbers.

Paris anarchists are now diligently cultivating the art of dining for nothing. Bands of them, it is said, now enter eating houses, call for substantial repasts, dispatch them and refuse to pay the bill. When the landlord remonstrates these "free diners-out" threaten to blow up his establishment with dynamite, and most of the bonifaces give in through fear of meeting Very's fate. This kind of freebooting is called Pestampage in Paris, and, like most other things Parisian, it is highly artistic.

Marius was the first Roman to wear a gold ring, and no one, unless he had been an ambassador, could wear one except on state occasions. Gradually the ring became to be the badge of knighthood, and finally all restrictions as to its being worn were cast aside and the ring was adopted generally as an ornament. The Roman "dudes" finally became so enamored of their rings that they put one on every joint of both hands. Then they had "weekly" rings and summer and winter rings, and some never wore the same ring twice.

The constant recourse of American dramatists to-day to the French stage makes noteworthy the reminder that as recently as 1629 there was only one theater open in Paris, the Hotel de Bourgogne, at which Corneille was first employed. His great play "Le Cid" was an adaptation from the Spanish and gave rise to the proverb, "As beautiful as 'The Cid.'" Ruy Diaz, who gave the play its name, was acknowledged "Seid" or lord by five Moorish chieftains, whom he conquered in turn in one battle. It is one dramatic classic which has as yet not been burlesqued in farce comedy.

REMARKABLE COINCIDENCE

The incident that I am about to relate I do not ask any one to believe. If it seems incredible I can bring forward no proof but my word and the deep scar on my forehead.

It happened about five years ago, while traveling for my health, that I arrived quite late one night in the thriving town of C——. I secured a room at one of the hotels, and after dinner, feeling pretty well worn out, went to bed. But I could not sleep. It seemed as if every horrible murder and every painful scene that I had ever heard of or experienced during my lifetime would rise before my eyes again and again, each time with redoubled vividness.

At last I could bear it no longer. I arose and seated myself before the fire with the uncanny feeling of being watched that one often has upon leaving a dark room. After a time this wore off a little, and I fell asleep.

I seemed to be in a large octagon room. Narrow oblong windows, with their upper halves of red glass, were cut in the walls, so near each other that the whole place was bathed in light; but as I looked it was not the mere light from the windows that gave everything its rosy hue. Blood was everywhere. It stained the walls and clung to the wooden bench and encircling the room. It crept along the floor in sluggish streams, and oh, horror! they were all creeping toward me!

I turntd to find some place of escape. Behind me was a massive door of bronze openwork. I beat against it with my fists, but it did not stir. Through it I looked into a sort of cage which did not appear inviting, but in my unreasonable terror I would have braved perdition itself to have escaped those pools so steadily pursuing me.

I beat upon the door of the cage again and again with renewed strength. It gave way and I flung myself through the opening just as the first stream had already touched my foot. But some change caused by my entrance was fast taking place. I began to feel a deathly faintness stealing over me and could hear myself mutter inarticulately, "Air—air! I am ill!" Then a voice rang through the stillness, "Why, it's easy as A, B, C," and a fiendish laugh seemed to echo and re-echo through my brain. Then came a jar and a lurch, and I was shot down, down, down—and awoke, sitting in my room before the dead ashes of a grate fire.

At first I could hardly realize that the octagon room, the blood and the terror were only a dream, but I finally succeeded, and thinking, "Fred, old man, that lobster salad and maraschino that you indulged in for supper were too much for you," I crept into bed and slept until morning.

The next day as I was strolling through the business part of the town I felt a hearty slap on the shoulder, and turning, met the smiling face of Tom Norris, my college chum.

"Why, Maxwell, who would ever have thought of meeting you here?" he exclaimed. "How long do you stay? Going home to-morrow! Well, that's rather soon, isn't it? But I suppose you've done the town. Seen the observatory?"

I replied that I had not—in fact did not know there was such a place.

"Why, you must not go home without seeing the only object of interest in C——. I will go there with you this afternoon if you wish."

I accepted the invitation, and 3 o'clock found us wandering leisurely on our way to the observatory. After a short walk we entered a plain stone building, the pride of C——.

"The elevator is at the top. Let's walk up. It will do us good."

We did so, and presently emerged, very much out of breath, into a large octagon room. Where had I seen it before? It all seemed too natural; the low bench running around the wall; the windows with their upper halves of red glass; the—rosy glow; the—suddenly the truth flashed through my mind. It was the room of my dream.

"Well, Maxwell, what ails you? Are you ill?"

"No, no!" I answered hurriedly." It will pass away in a moment."

"Maybe it was the stairs," said Norris. "Let's go home; we can take the elevator down."

I turned. Behind me was the door of bronze open-work I had dashed myself against so despairingly the night before. It was the door of the elevator. I tried to overcome the dread that was fast overcoming me, and entered. Again the deadly faintness, and again the muttered 'Air—air! I am ill!"

The words were forced from my lips against my will. The elevator boy heard me, leaned over and cried, laughingly:

"Why, it's as easy as A. B. C!"

While the words were echoing in my ears there came a crash, another, a confused murmur, and I lost consciousness.

When I recovered my senses I was lying on a bed in a hospital. They told me Tom Norris had not been as fortunate as myself. The pulley on which the elevator was suspended, being old and worn, had given way, and the cage of my dream, with its human freight, was dashed to the bottom of the shaft.

The boy escaped death, but will never use his limbs again. I have long since recovered, and am entirely unharmed save for a deep, unsightly scar across my cheek and forehead. But Tom Norris—poor old Tom! They picked something from the ruins that they said was he, so bruised and battered and mangled as to be entirely unrecognizable. His head was completely flattened. They covered the sickening sight from view and buried it.

Say what you will, I have always thought that if the blood in my dream had succeeded in actually catching me I should have shared his fate. Superstitious? Perhaps—but, after all, was it only a dream?—San Francisco Call.

CHINESE "PUFFING."

That the almond-eyed Celestials are not all laundrymen and that occasionally they possess souls that are attuned to poetry cannot be denied after reading the following literal translations from the Shipon, a periodical published at Tientsin. The lines are dramatic criticisms of music hall artistes:

"Knei-foo has something poetical. Her soul, redolent of cinnamon blossoms, is bright and mysterious; even her shadow is full of fragrance. In a blissful, heaven sent dream she transforms herself with her mate into a couple of mandarin ducks.

"Yueh-yoo is transparent and clear. Her flesh and bones consist of jewels. Her soul is like unto snow. Whether laughing or weeping she is always perfect. When she opens her red lips her breath pervades with fragrance the city of Tientsin, all too small to receive it."

How's
Your Liver?
Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

IN PERFECT HEALTH.

Miss Jeanne Cambray Says She Has Gained Fast.

An Interesting Letter from Paris—Her Weight is 130 Pounds, Her Appetite is Improved and She Sleeps Well Again.

Jeanne Cambray, writing from Paris, says the Herald of Chicago, her home, gives strong proof of much that has been published recently.

Miss Cambray says:

"When I arrived from Paris last September, I was so reduced that I could not continue in the position I held in Chicago.

"Paine's celery compound was recommended to me, and, though I had but little faith in the ultimate result, I commenced using it. In a very short time I felt much better, and to-day I am enjoying the very best of health. While taking the compound I used no other medicine. At the time of first taking the compound I weighed but 103 pounds; I now weigh 130 pounds. It improved my appetite; I sleep very well, and, in fact, I am in perfect health to-day.

"I write this letter simply because I know the compound to be all that it is represented to be, and I wish to add my thanks to those of others who, no doubt, in recognition of its virtue, send the Wells & Richardson Co. their words of praise every day."

Paine's celery compound is not a patent medicine.

It is the prescription that made the fame of Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth college.

It is the remedy that physicians have ever since prescribed to strengthen the nerves and purify the blood.

Prof. Phelps, true scientist that he was, freely gave this prescription to all reputable physicians. They saw that it was good, that one of the greatest problems of their profession was at last solved; it effected complete cures of nervous complications when everything else failed; it positively and permanently drove from the blood the poison germs of deep-seated disease; it was pleasant, palatable and harmless; it gave strength and health to delicate children and feeble old folks.

Patients who are weak and weary, when sleepless, dyspeptic or despondent, have been advised so often to use Paine's celery compound to banish disease and despondency that it has come to be known everywhere by the public, as well as the medical profession and the druggists, as a specific in such cases.

It tones the nerves, strengthens the muscles and enriches the blood as nothing else can.

"There is but one celery compound, and its name is Paine's," wrote Dr. Newton. And his public indorsement is echoed by thousands who unite in declaring this scientific compound the "best medicine in the world."

DEATH BY LIGHTNING.

Tiffin, O., June 8.—During a fierce thunderstorm at Deshler yesterday an aged widow, Mrs. Nancy Lyon, was killed by a lightning stroke while attempting to close a window. The body was horribly mutilated and the house partly consumed.

John Hillman, a retired and wealthy citizen, died here at noon yesterday aged 70 years.

AN UNDISPUTED TEST OF MERIT.

A medicine that has been a household remedy for over fifty years and used in that time by over 150,000,000 persons, must have great merit. Such a medicine is found in Brandreth's Pills. This fact demonstrates the value of these pills better than any statement of the proprietors. It will be observed that the dose required to cure is small. One or two pills taken every night for ten or twenty days will cure dyspepsia, costiveness, rheumatism, liver complaint, biliousness, or any disease arising from an impure state of the blood.

Brandreth's Pills are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless, and safe to take at any time.

Sold in every drug and medicine store, either plain or sugar coated.

IMPORTANT MEETING.

The Elgin Stockholders are in Session.

The Question of a Large Increase in Capital Will be Decided at This Gathering.

Chicago, June 8.—Whether or not the stock of the Elgin National Watch company shall be increased from two million to five or six million dollars will be decided upon at a special meeting of the stockholders to-day.

President Avery says that it is simply proposed to capitalize the accumulated surplus of recent years as a stock dividend to the present shareholders. The stock will remain of a par value of $1,000.

Officers of the corporation say they have no desire to make the stock a speculative security, and that the increase in capitalization does not mean that they are endeavoring to do anything of the kind.

The stock has paid 20 per cent dividends for many years, but the earnings have been largely in excess of this figure. These surplus earnings have been put into the plant, and it is now proposed to give the stockholders something to represent such earnings.

One object is, so it is stated, to discourage people who undertake to build watch factories for one million dollars or so by drawing the attention of capitalists to the Elgin plant with the claim that it represents but two million dollars investment.

The plant of the company alone represents over three million dollars at the present time. If this building were a straight structure thirty feet wide and three stories high it would have a total length of a mile and a half. It now gives employment to over three thousand hands, male and female, with a pay roll of about two million dollars yearly. The present output is over two thousand watches a day. The surplus is somewhere between two and three millions, and the concern pays an annual dividend of 30 per cent on two million dollars.

THE ARMY GOES BROKE

Trouble in the Ranks of the Salvationists.

No Funds with Which to Save the Souls of Sinners in Darkest England.

New York, June 8.—A dispatch from London says: The Salvation Army is in financial difficulties, and Gen. Booth has been compelled to issue a stirring call for aid.

What is known as the "Darkest England" scheme was started on the calculation that $150,000 would be required annually for its development and maintenance. This estimate has proven correct, but of the sum total required for this year only $20,000 has so far been furnished, and which, together with the deficiency of last year, has brought operations practically to a standstill.

Gen. Booth says in the appeal that the disappointment has been very painful to him, but the fact that his spiritual fund is also exhausted and rapidly running behind is a difficulty more grievous still.

The Darkest England scheme was undertaken on the condition that the money required for its inauguration and maintenance would be supplied. This condition has not been carried out.

Moreover, to carry on the war until self-denial week in October he will require with the income expected from other sources, about $40,000. Unless this is forthcoming the army will be practically in a state of insolvency.

A Housebreaker Caught and Bound Over.

At his hearing he pleaded guilty to housebreaking and was bound over to court. He is in care of Sheriff Bailey for the present.

HOW TO BE HAPPY.

If all the actual physical wants of men and women were regularly and completely supplied, and their powers intelligently directed, their vital, natural and animal functions would be performed easily and perfectly, and less disease, physical pain and mental suffering would result.

To prevent disease, preserve health and prolong life, are the objects to be obtained in successful medical practice. Drs. France & Ottman have made the phenomena if functional and organic diseases the study of their life. Early realizing that disease is discord, and health concord, they use their best of skill in so prescribing for their thousands of patients as to restore concordance of functions, and overcome destructive forces which undermine constitutional vigor. No person whose case has baffled the skill of their family physician should fail to consult Drs. France & Ottman, who have few, if any, superiors as skilled experts in functional and organic diseases.—Journal.

Drs. France & Ottman, formerly of New York, now of The France Medical and Surgical Institute, Columbus, Ohio, by request of many friends and patients, have decided to visit Toledo, Wednesday, June 8. Consultation and examination free and strictly confidential in the private parlor of the Burnett House, from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m., one day only.

VESUVIUS ACTIVE.

Naples, June 8.—The eruption of Mount Vesuvius which has been noticeable for some time past, is now very greatly rising down through the Atrio cavallo ravine. lava are issuing from the crater and flowing down through the Atrio cavallo ravine. At noon to-day an earthquake shock was felt in the town of San Severe. The motion was undulatory. For a time the residents were panic stricken, but upon seeing that no damage had been done and that the disturbance had ceased order was promptly resumed.

WHY MILLIONAIRES WORK.

"Why do you work so hard when you already have more money than you can spend?" a Brooklyn millionaire was asked the other day by a New York Herald man. "Habit, I suppose," said the millionaire as frankly as he had been questioned. Then he leaned back in his chair and thought. Finally he repeated, with the air of a man who had looked over the ground and had come to a conclusion:

"Yes, it's nothing but a habit, but I can't break off money-making now. Primarily we all set out to make money for two reasons. Firstly, we want to secure existence; secondly, we desire to secure pleasures and luxuries. But while working for these purposes men become acquainted with great projects, and problems, and schemes, and industries, and if they are earnest men who have more than a selfish interest in the business world about them, they soon become absorbed in those things. I don't think so meanly of our rich men as to imagine that they cling to their business on account of the money it brings them, after they have already acquired more money than they can spend. But there is a pleasure and excitement in holding the rudder of a great enterprise and sending it boldly ahead in all kinds of weather. Does the old sailor love the sea because of the dollars he made as wages or the dollars he expects to make? Not he. He loves it because his life's work has been identified with it. My work has become my pleasure now, and I could not bear to leave it long. This is like a big machine here, and it is a great and constant pleasure to see how smoothly it runs and to put my hand down and adjust it when necessary."

MURDER AS A FINE ART.

Among the papers of M. Charles Monselet, the spirited and much-regretted French writer, a curious manuscript has been discovered. It bears the title, "Manual du Parfait Assassin," and opens with an outline sketch of the qualifications of the man who would become a successful murderer. Above all, he should be neither too young nor too old, neither uneducated nor too learned, but one branch of knowledge which he should be careful to avoid is that of literature. But unless a man feels that murdering is his vocation all other qualifications avail nothing. If he is not drawn toward the profession by an irresistible attraction and if he has not from his tenderest age felt the desire to annihilate his fellow beings let him desist from meddling with murdering. M. Monselet says:

"A street attack at night is tempting, but it must be done by inspiration. You require genius to do it well. A man passes. He either inspires you or leaves you unmoved. If he inspires you you go for him; his watch, if he has one, his pocketbook and the contents of his two waistcoat pockets are your booty. Throwing a dead body into the river has its drawbacks; the slime often gives up its prey. Water talks; the earth is dumb. This is the advice of a famous assassin."

Under the heading "Murderers and Magistrates" the author has this to say:

"Avalnain, when standing on the platform of the guillotine, said to the people: 'Above all, never confess.' These great words ought to be engraved in letters of gold. As soon as you are caught imagine you are somebody else. Don't try to be clever in answering the judge. Rather say the most idiotic things that come into your head. The perfect assassin should be very respectful toward the gentlemen of the jury. If he knows one of them he had better not ask how his wife is. Good behavior is often rewarded. Meanwhile, he ought to show his perfect tranquility by asking one of the policemen by his side for a chew of tobacco."

Independence, as long as there is a gleam of hope, is the advice with which M. Monselet dismisses his subject, and when all has failed then resort to philosophy and die like a man.

DRS. FRANCE AND OTTMAN, of New York, the well known and successful Specialists in Chronic Diseases and Diseases of the Eye and Ear, on account of their large practice in Ohio, have established the FRANCE MEDICAL INSTITUTE, where all forms of Chronic, Nervous and Private Diseases will be successfully treated on the most Scientific principles. They are ably assisted by a full corps of eminent Physicians and Surgeons, each one being a well known specialist in his profession

CANCER positively cured without pain or use of the knife, by a new method.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES.—DR. FRANCE, after years of experience, has discovered the greatest cure known for all diseases peculiar to the sex. Female diseases positively cured by the new remedy, OLIVE BLOSSOM. The cure is effected by home treatment. Entirely harmless and easily applied. Consultation Free and Strictly Confidential. YOUNG MEN—Who have become victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit, which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of exalted talent and brilliant intellect, may call with confidence.

DRS. FRANCE AND OTTMAN, after years of experience, have discovered the greatest cure known for weakness in the back and limbs, involuntary discharges, impotency, general debility, nervousness, languor, confusion of ideas, palpitation of the heart, timidity, trembling, dimness of sight, or giddiness, diseases of the head, throat, nose, or skin, affections of the liver, lungs, stomach, or bowels—those terrible disorders arising from the solitary vice of youth—and secret practices, blighting their most radiant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage impossible. Take one candid thought before it is too late. A week or month may place your case beyond the reach of hope. Our method of treatment will speedily and permanently cure the most obstinate case, and absolutely restore perfect manhood.

TO MIDDLE-AGED MEN.—There are many from the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight burning or smarting sensation, weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examination of the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will be found, or the color will be a thin or milkish hue. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is a second stage of seminal weakness. We will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—We have a special department, thoroughly organized, and devoted exclusively to the treatment of diseases of women. Every case consulting our specialists, whether by letter or in person, is given the most careful and considerate attention. Important cases (and we get few which have not baffled the skill of all the home physicians) have the benefit of a full council of skilled specialists. In treatment of diseases peculiar to females, [illegible] has been marked, over two-thirds of our patients being ladies, old, young, married, single, [illegible]. Our method is entirely free from objectionable features of the general practitioner, namely, "Local treatment." We seldom find it necessary. We prepare remedies, constitutional and local, as the case demands, and instruct ladies how to treat themselves.

MARRIAGE.—Married persons, or those contemplating marriage, aware of physical weakness, loss of procreative powers, impotency, or any other disqualification, speedily restored.

PRIVATE DISEASES.—Blood Poison, Venereal Taint, Gleet, Stricture, Seminal Emissions, Loss of Sexual Power, Weakness of Sexual Organs, Want of Desire in Male or Female, whether from imprudent habits of youth or sexual habits of mature years, or any cause that debilitates the sexual functions, speedily and permanently cured. Consultation free and strictly confidential. Absolute cures guaranteed. Medicines sent free from observation to all parts of the United States.

EPILEPSY, OR FITS—Positively cured by a new and never-failing method. Testimonials furnished.

FREE EXAMINATION OF THE URINE.—Each person applying for medical treatment should send or bring from 2 to 4 ounces of urine (that passed first in the morning preferred), which will receive a careful chemical and microscopical examination, and if requested a written analysis will be given.

Persons ruined in health by unlearned pretenders, who keep trifling with them month after month, giving poisonous and injurious compounds, should apply immediately. Delays are dangerous.

WONDERFUL CURES Perfected in old cases which have been neglected or unskillfully treated. No experiments or failures. Parties treated by mail or express, but where possible, personal consultation is preferred. Curable cases guaranteed. No risks incurred.

The young men, familiarly known as Best's Cadets, gave their annual reception last evening at their headquarters. The boys apparently enjoyed themselves immensely. A delicious luncheon was served.

Mrs. V. W. Ingalls and sons entertained a small party of friends at their home on Collingwood avenue, last evening. Elegant refreshments were served, and the evening pleasantly spent with music and cards.

Tiny "baby cards" sent to Toledo from Harrisburg, Pa., bear the announcement: "Dorothea Jones, born June 2, 1892. Mr. and Mrs. Thos. M. Jones." The little lady is cordially welcomed by the newspaper fraternity, and if the law of heredity works well in her case, she will be "heard from" one of these days in bright and good earnest.

A pleasant surprise was given in honor of Frank Zahnle, at his home, 817 Ontario street last evening. A bountiful supper was served by Mrs. Zahnle and daughters, and was appreciated by all in attendance. One lot of 50,000 bushels of wheat was placed at 1 5-8, making corn 1 3-8, and most of the business was done at that figure. Outlook greatly improved.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

The Huckster Ordinance.

To the Editor: I see in your last night's paper that the huckster ordinance now before the board of councilmen created quite a discussion.

We have in this city about four hundred men who have over $1,000,000 invested in the grocery business, and I don't think any of these men desire to drive the hucksters out of existence, as Mr. Manchester seems to think, nor do we ask our city council to pass any laws for our benefit.

Thieves is a hard word to use, and I am sorry that one of our councilmen should use it in connection with men engaged in a respectable business. The gentleman credited with making this remark should move to New York or Chicago, where they are very much in need of such good men to set an example to aldermanic and council boards. Toledo is full of honest men, and he would not be a loss to our city. He seems surprised that a groceryman should pay $4 for berries and sell them for the same price. If he was in the business three months he would find that he would have to handle berries to supply his trade, not for the profit there is in it, but because his trade demands it, and would find that it pays better to sell them at cost than to hold them over night and let them spoil.

As to hucksters, I have nothing to say, although I have seen men on the market load on 15 bushels of potatoes on a wagon already half full and then swear that he only loaded 11 bushels; bought all the green onions a farmer had, 120 dozen, and make it only 95 dozen, but such little mistakes will happen. I have seen a huckster close to my store measure out big pecks of apples with a measure which only had a half bottom in it, but of course he was not to blame that half of the bottom fell out. I like to see every man engaged in an honest business make a success of it, and although only a groceryman and not a councilman, I would not degrade myself by classing business men or even hucksters with thieves. It seems surprising that at our city elections not only the votes of honest men but thieves are also counted.

NO GETTING USED TO EARTHQUAKES.

It is a curious fact that the earthquake scare is the one danger to which we can never become accustomed by familiarity, says the San Francisco Chronicle. The oftener we feel it the more we become demoralized. I cannot better illustrate this than by a story told me by Col. Bailey Peyton, United States minister to Chile in 1852, and the city attorney of San Francisco in 1856.

To a party of friends in 1856 he said: "Boys, it's of no use talking; we can become accustomed to all dangers, no matter how imminent, by familiarity, except the dangers of earthquakes. The more you feel 'em the more you don't like 'em, and the worse you hate 'em. I've heard the whistle of bullets and the roar of cannon in battle, never dodged. But my experience in Chile took the starch out of me. I had been but a few days in Santiago, the capital of Chile, when I visited the leading store on the plaza in that city. While standing behind the counter, in an instant, without any premonition, the proprietor and 20 clerks simultaneously leaped the counter and rushed out of the front door. I looked at them in astonishment and said to myself: 'Are they crazy? What's the matter with them?' Slowly they returned to their places. I asked them what was the matter. They replied: 'El temblors! Didn't you feel the temblod?'

"To me it was a trifle. Two weeks later I was giving a swell dinner to the diplomatic corps at Santiago. In the midst of it came a tremble, a very lively one, and every man of the party leaped from his seat and rushed for the door or window. I said to myself: 'Of all the cowards I ever met with these people exceed.' But, boys, I hadn't been in that country more than three months before no quarter-horse in Tennessee could beat me in a break for the front door when one of those temblors made his appearance. You can stand bullets and cannon-balls, but the temblors will fetch you."

SCROFULOUS BABY

Our Family Physician Recommends Cuticura Remedies, and Says They Cured Our Child.

Father Went 25 Miles to Get Cuticura and Feels Thankful and Wants Others to Do as He Did.

My child broke out with scrofula when two months old, and we tried everything that the doctor could do. It took out his hair and broke out on his limbs and nose. It was then CUTICURA REMEDIES were recommended by our doctor who attended him and is now sitting here. The doctor said CUTICURA REMEDIES cured my child and recommends them for all diseases of the skin and blood. It did not take but one set of CUTICURA REMEDIES. I went 25 miles to get them. My child is well and has a fine head of hair as can be, for which I feel thankful to you, for my wife is in bad health. I have recommended CUTICURA REMEDIES to others. Print this if you think it will cause any person to do as I did.

D. F. PENSON, Langley, Pike Co., Ark.

I am the doctor that recommended CUTICURA REMEDIES to D. F. Penson. I have known them to cure several bad cases of skin and blood diseases, and I say they are good. MISS MARY E. BROOKS, M. D.
